PLOT TO KILL HITLER FAILS BY 11 MINUTES

SEVEN ARE KILLED, 63 MEN WOUNDED

Hitler, Safe In Chancellory, Views Photos of Explosion

By MELVIN K. WHITELEATHER.

BERLIN, Nov. 9.—Adolf Hitler, safe behind the walls of his new chancellery in Berlin, today viewed photographs of the first officially disclosed serious attempt to kill him since he assumed power in 1933.

Meanwhile the reich's tremendous police power combed the nation for perpetrators of last night's explosion in the Munich Buergerbrau cellar which would have buried the fuehrer under nine feet of debris had he not left the "beer hall" putsch anniversary observance earlier than customary.

Seven Killed

The blast in the Buergerbrau hall, a shrine of Nazidom, came a few minutes after Hitler had left to entrain for Berlin and killed seven of his veteran followers and wounded more than 60, some gravely.

The British secret service and Jews were openly charged with an attempt on the fuehrer's life, but officials said so far there was no trace of persons directly responsible for what "must have been a long and carefully planned attempt."

The original reward of 500,000 marks ($200,000) for information leading to seizure of the guilty was increased today to 600,000 marks ($240,000) by an anonymous additional offer of 100,000 marks ($40,000).

None of the high Nazi officials who accompanied Hitler to Munich for the annual celebration were reported among the killed or injured.

By Eleven Minutes

He finished delivering his speech, in which he attacked Great Britain and asserted the war would go on, at 9:05 p. m. (3:05 p. m., E. S. T.) and left at 9:10 p. m.

The terrific explosion, which tore loose the rafters and felled a large column immediately behind the rostrum, occurred at 9:21 p. m.

(British official sources scoffed at charges that the British secret service and Jews were responsible and a spokesman declared: "Doubtless the gentlemen who engineered the reichstag fire of 1933 know how to do these things."

In Paris, French diplomatic circles said they interpreted the incident as indicating a split in the Nazi party over Germany's new partnership with Soviet Russia.)

Neither of Two Parties Given Chance To Crow

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Neither Democrats nor Republicans can gather enough comforting crumbs out of Tuesday's elections to stuff a Thanksgiving turkey.

Mississippi elected a Democratic governor. It hasn't had a Republican in its executive mansion since right after the Civil war. Philadelphia elected a Republican mayor. It hasn't had a Democratic one since 1881.

Virginia Republicans picked up three seats in the legislature. They came from a congressional district which now has a Democratic representative, but which for many years was a Republican stronghold.

California and Ohio voted down pension plans by large margins. Few pension leaders needed a shot of ammonia to recover from the defeat, however, though in their private advance predictions they had somewhat underestimated the size of the majorities.

The beating which the plans took in those two states in no wise altered the campaign setup the Townsendites are working out for an oratorical drive in Pennsylvania, New York, Ohio and Illinois during the next year. They are working for a margin of power with which to influence the course of next year's campaigns.

Up in New York, Tammany, whose chances could have been bought a year ago with four dollars in Confederate money and a used postage stamp, sprang to sudden life and took over county offices. As recently as a month ago, New Yorkers were discounting the power of Tammany.

Its sudden restoration into popular favor, with the jobs that will fall to its lot through that elevation, can help make it a factor in the maneuvering for next year's Democratic presidential nomination,, not to mention the election battling to follow.

CITY COUNCIL AWAITS FINAL BALLOT CHECK

Election Board Making Official Tabulation Today

ISSUE DEFEATED BY THREE VOTES

New Administration Faces Job of Raising $12,000 In 1940

Members of city council, at a meeting last night, indicated they would ask the county election board for a recount on the poor relief levy which, according to the unofficial count, lost by three votes in Tuesday's election.

The one-mill levy was designed to raise approximately $12,000 to finance relief care in Salem for 1940 and now, with its apparent defeat city officials are puzzled as to methods of raising revenue to finance the relief program. Money is in fund to take care of the balance of the current year.

Await Official Count

Today, however, the councilmen awaited the outcome of the official count being made at the election board's headquarters in the courthouse at Lisbon.

City Auditor Karl Webster was advised yesterday by election board officials that the city must post $10 for each precinct, or $140, in requesting a recount of the special levy ballots.

The unofficial vote on the relief levy was: Yes, 1,631; No, 1,634.

Council last night acted upon three ordinances, one transferring $3,883, from the motor vehicles license fund to the streets maintenance and repair fund to take care of a deficiency on the Maple st. paving project, which is now completed.

City Engineer F. S. Barckhoff reported that federal money had been released for the Brooklyn and Railroad st. paving jobs and that these projects would be started upon completion of the Mound st. improvement which is now under way.

The engineer suggested that storm water sewers be installed on Seventh st. now and, in the meantime, the city could go ahead with the Brooklyn and Railroad st. jobs.

This brought an objection by Councilmen Charles Rheutan and C. F. Zimmerman, who said the Seventh st. property owners petitioned for their street improvement before those on Railroad st. Councilman Fred Koenreich contended the Railroad st. paving would be an industrial improvement and could be worked while sewers were being installed on Seventh. No agreement was reached.

Another ordinance provided for the employment, on a part-time basis, of an extra clerk in the water works office to handle payroll and state voucher records which is out of the line of duties of the present staff. The pay will be 50 cents an hour.

A third ordinance appropriated $100 to the city engineer's incidentals fund.

The solons approved the construction of a concrete wall alongside Buttermilk run, west of Jennings ave., to protect an adjoining property. An old wall had crumbled away.

Chamberlain Says Germany Knows No Method But Force

LONDON, Nov. 9.—Prime Minister Chamberlain declared today that "the stiff-necked men" who run Germany "speak no language but that of force" and, therefore, "I am not very hopeful of a satisfactory response from the German chancellor" to the peace proposals of Queen Wilhelmina and King Leopold.

Park Commissioners Plan Improvements To Benefit Skaters

The park commission has asked city council for a $600 appropriation to finance improvements to place the West End skating pond in shape for the winter season.

Council's finance committee is studying the request and will make a report at council's next regular meeting.

According to Edgar C. Sheen, Jr., and Dana Floding, commission members, plans have been made to excavate the soft top soil from the pond site, construct a concrete spillway to take care of any overflow of water and to prevent the earthen dam from bursting, and to build a lean-to shed for the shelter of skaters. Seats would be provided for changing skates.

Two restrooms also would be constructed near the pond.

TURFMAN SLAIN BY GANGSTERS

Police Today Learn of Threat to Bomb Home of Edward O'Hare

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—An anonymous threat to bomb the home of Edward J. O'Hare added a new element of mystery today ot the slaying of the nationally known turfman.

The threat to "blow up" the suburban Clencoe residence of the wealthy horse and dog track operator was telephoned to a Negro maid whom the caller advised to leave immediately.

O'Hare, 45, and president of Sportsman's park race track, was slain in gangster fashion late yesterday afternoon after a wild automobile chase along Ogden ave.

The victim raced his expensive automobile northeast toward the loop apparently knowing he was marked for death. His car smashed into a pole when he turned into a side street. The assassins then slowed almost to a stop and fired two shotgun charges.

An unfired .32 calibre pistol lay on the seat of O'Hare's car. A crucifix, a rosary and a religious medallion in a box marked "happy birthday" were among the effects found in his pockets.

Investigators reported they also found a memorandum which indicated O'Hare recently had been in touch with the Federal Bureau of Investigation. This led to a theory that the underworld may have suspected him of having given information to the FBI. The FBI refused to comment.

Investigators also considered the possibility the slaying was the culmination of a quarrel arising from horse racing activities. The police said O'Hare had voiced a desire to quit the racing business because of the "heat."

O'Hare was an attorney in St. Louis before turning to racing more than a decade ago. He waxed prosperous in the greyhound racing business in southern Illinois. Later he became manager of the Hawthorne dog track in Chicago, a plant in which the Al Capone gang had an interest.

County Peace Forum Planned In Lisbon

LISBON, Nov. 9.—A Columbiana county peace forum will be held in the Presbyterian church here Friday evening, at which Rev. John Sommerlatte of Cleveland and Rabbi Charles B. Latz of Canton will be the principal speakers.

The forum, to which all men of the county are invited, is one of 55 of a similar nature held throughout the state under the sponsorship of the Ohio Council of Churches for the purpose of promoting permanent peace plans. Preceding the speaking, a dinner will be served at 6:30 in the dining room of the church.

Motorist Fined

Wayne Karns of Columbiana was arrested on a charge of reckless driving following a collision between his car and another operated by Harry Morris of Columbus on Route 45, just north of Lisbon, at 9 p. m. Wednesday.

At a hearing before Justice M. K. Zimerman in Lisbon, Karns was fined $10 and costs, the state patrol reported. No one was injured in the crash.

EXPORT PERMITS ISSUED SLOWLY

State Department Has Had To Prepare New Applications

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Issuance of licenses for the export of war materials to Britain and France has begun at the state department—but only in driblets.

Some officials who envisioned long lines of applicants waiting for the state department doors to open every morning this week have been disappointed.

One reason for the delay is the fact that the department had to prepare new application blanks. The neutrality law requires more detailed information from the manufacturers and exporters of war materials than did the preceding act.

Nearly $80,000,000 in export licenses had to be cancelled when the arms embargo of the old act was imposed, but these will be reissued as fast as the applications come in and are approved. The cancelled licenses were almost entirely to Britain, France and Australia, and called principally for airplanes.

Licenses issued in the next month or so are expected to total several hundred million dollars.

Administration of the new neutrality act is imposing more onerous duties on the state department and on the treasury, which supervises much of the "cash and carry" program.

About 160 organizations have registered with the state department for permission to collect funds for charitable distribution in the belligerent countries. Department officials are finding in some cases that they are being called on to act virtually as accountants to help the organizations straighten out their books.

The principal problem arising since the neutrality act was signed last Saturday has been the application of the United States lines for transfer of eight ships to Panamanian registry so that they might continue in transatlantic service.

Thos. Spencer Dies At Daughter's Home

Thomas Spencer, about 80, died at 9:15 a. m. today at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Robert L. Wright, 492 Woodland ave. Infirmities was the cause of death.

Mr. Spencer, who for many years managed the Singer Sewing Machine Co. agency here, was born in Westmoreland county, Virginia, Feb. 21, 1860. He was married to Addie Brode Sept. 19, 1883 at Fairmont, W. Va.

He had been a resident of Salem for 45 years, living previously at Toronto.

Survivors include, besides Mrs. Wright, another daughter, Mrs. Emmor H. Taylor of Salem, two grandchildren, and a half-brother, C. V. Spencer of Jeanette, Pa.

Private funeral service will be held at 2:30 p. m. Saturday at the Arbaugh-Pearce funeral home in charge of Rev. R. D. Walter. Burial will be in Hope cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 7 to 9 p. m. Friday.

RAYMOND WINS ORATORY EEVNT

Lewis Raymond, Jr., won the Prince of Peace declamation contest Wednesday night in the First Baptist church. He spoke on the subject, "The Dignity of Man."

Raymond is now eligible for the Columbiana county contest which will be held sometime in December. District and state events will follow. The state contest will be held in February during the Ohio Pastors' conference in Coumbus.

Awarded second place, or that of alternate, in last night's competition was Dorothy Hinkley, who spoke on "The Message of the Bronze Plaque."

There were three other contestants. Judges were Miss M. Maude Hart, Miss Viola Bodo and J. C. Guiler of the Salem High school faculty.

Gandhi's Demand For India's Freedom Problem For Britain

Situation Is Doubly Bad Because of British Involvement In European War

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

Gandhi's fresh demand on Britain for Indian freedom increases the seriousness of a situation which is doubly bad for England because of her involvement in the European war.

Such a demand coming from this great nationalist leader is no light matter.

The famous little ascetic is by far the most powerful figure in India and speaks with the authority of many millions of followers, who look to him not only for political but for spiritual guidance.

This new development follows closely adoption of the dangerous weapon of passive resistance against the British government by all India National Congress party, which Gandhi controls.

London's undoubted concern must be increased by reports that Russia is planning to take advantage of the European crisis to try to bring India into the Communist fold.

For India's Benefit

Incidentally, a charge that India is oppressed was made in the Communist International's manifesto Monday.

Passive resistance, which means wholesale non-cooperation, can be terribly effective if properly handled and it is an expedient with which the Nationalists are quite familiar through past usage.

It was set in motion again by the resignation of six provincial governments controlled by the Nationalists, and others are expected to follow. This is of course calculated to stop, or at least impede, the machinery of state.

Gandhi, in announcing the start of passive resistance, added:

"I will resist civil disobedience (active resistance) unless I find the country prepared for that."

Such an intimation of possible active resistance, even coming from a noted peace-advocate like Gandhi, has a disturbing sound.

Any sort of ferment set going in an empire of 350,000,000 Oriental people—roughly a sixth of the world's total population—is something to watch.

It seems almost incredible but Gandhi literally is worshipped by countless Indians as a divine being.

PENSIONS SEEN BUGABOO IN '40

Future Course of Two Parties Remains Matter of Conjecture

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Nov. 9.—Pensions for Ohio's indigent aged are likely to become the political bugaboo of both major parties in the 1940 general election campaign.

While Ohio voters rejected the controversial Bigelow pension proposal in Tuesday's election, another is expected to rear its head next year.

Not So Chummy Next Year

Democrats and Republicans battled side by side to crush the Bigelow plan but next year they won't be so chummy as they go after votes to feather their own congressional and state office nests.

Only slightly more than 400,000 persons voted for the Bigelow plan. That's quite a block of ballots, though, and in case of a close Republican-Democrat race it might be a pivotal factor.

Republicans, since they control the administration and legislature, appear to be in the best position to woo support of Ohio's aged by increasing present pensions, but the administration contends the state lacks necessary funds.

Gov. John W. Bricker has indicated he may call a special session early next year to consider pressing poor relief needs in several Ohio industrial centers and pressure might be brought on him to propose increasing present pensions, despite budget considerations, in order to head off support for new proposals now being drafted by Rev. Herbert S. Bigelow.

Bigelow's defeated plan would have guaranteed incomes to persons past 60. Ohio now aids 122,000 needy persons over 65 with sums averaging $23 monthly. The state can pay up to $30 monthly and the federal government shares the cost equally but the federal law now permits a $40 maximum.

Democrats In Middle

If the Republican administration increased pensions, the Democrats would be left in the middle. They would have to ignore the Republicans' efforts, draft a more liberal program of their own, or support Bigelow's contemplated new plan.

The support Bigelow did get, much less than his opponents had anticipated, virtually eliminated him as a possible threat for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in 1940 unless too many Democrats get into the race.

Bigelow has disclaimed any intention of running for governor but his friends circulated petitions in his behalf and some Democrats felt that if his pension plan polled a substantial vote he might be influenced to make the race.

The Bricker administration, however, did not risk upsetting state party harmony by taking sides in either of the local fights.

Commissioners To Confer With Gill On Jail Problem

LISBON, Nov. 9.—Just what action the state expects to take in regard to the old county jail was expected to be learned by Columbiana county commissioners at Columbus today.

The commissioners went to Columbus to see the state highway director about improving Route 30 for a distance of three miles south of Lisbon, and to see State Fire Marshal Ray Gill relative to the county jail.

Gill condemned the jail several months ago and the commissioners put up a two-mill levy for a new prison. Voters rejected it at Tuesday's election.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va.—Sergeant J. J. Francis was in the U. S. Army 28 years before discovering he wasn't serving his own country.

When he enlisted in 1911, he told the recruiting officer his father, a Frenchman, had been naturalized. But he learned several months ago his parent had taken out only first papers.

Now the sergeant is a citizen.

Park Commissioners Plan Improvements To Benefit Skaters

The park commission has asked city council for a $600 appropriation to finance improvements to place the West End skating pond in shape for the winter season.

Council's finance committee is studying the request and will make a report at council's next regular meeting.

According to Edgar C. Sheen, Jr., and Dana Floding, commission members, plans have been made to excavate the soft top soil from the pond site, construct a concrete spillway to take care of any overflow of water and to prevent the earthen dam from bursting, and to build a lean-to shed for the shelter of skaters. Seats would be provided for changing skates.

Two restrooms also would be constructed near the pond.

TURFMAN SLAIN BY GANGSTERS

Police Today Learn of Threat to Bomb Home of Edward O'Hare

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—An anonymous threat to bomb the home of Edward J. O'Hare added a new element of mystery today ot the slaying of the nationally known turfman.

The threat to "blow up" the suburban Clencoe residence of the wealthy horse and dog track operator was telephoned to a Negro maid whom the caller advised to leave immediately.

O'Hare, 45, and president of Sportsman's park race track, was slain in gangster fashion late yesterday afternoon after a wild automobile chase along Ogden ave.

The victim raced his expensive automobile northeast toward the loop apparently knowing he was marked for death. His car smashed into a pole when he turned into a side street. The assassins then slowed almost to a stop and fired two shotgun charges.

An unfired .32 calibre pistol lay on the seat of O'Hare's car. A crucifix, a rosary and a religious medallion in a box marked "happy birthday" were among the effects found in his pockets.

Investigators reported they also found a memorandum which indicated O'Hare recently had been in touch with the Federal Bureau of Investigation. This led to a theory that the underworld may have suspected him of having given information to the FBI. The FBI refused to comment.

Investigators also considered the possibility the slaying was the culmination of a quarrel arising from horse racing activities. The police said O'Hare had voiced a desire to quit the racing business because of the "heat."

O'Hare was an attorney in St. Louis before turning to racing more than a decade ago. He waxed prosperous in the greyhound racing business in southern Illinois. Later he became manager of the Hawthorne dog track in Chicago, a plant in which the Al Capone gang had an interest.

County Peace Forum Planned In Lisbon

LISBON, Nov. 9.—A Columbiana county peace forum will be held in the Presbyterian church here Friday evening, at which Rev. John Sommerlatte of Cleveland and Rabbi Charles B. Latz of Canton will be the principal speakers.

The forum, to which all men of the county are invited, is one of 55 of a similar nature held throughout the state under the sponsorship of the Ohio Council of Churches for the purpose of promoting permanent peace plans. Preceding the speaking, a dinner will be served at 6:30 in the dining room of the church.

Motorist Fined

Wayne Karns of Columbiana was arrested on a charge of reckless driving following a collision between his car and another operated by Harry Morris of Columbus on Route 45, just north of Lisbon, at 9 p. m. Wednesday.

At a hearing before Justice M. K. Zimerman in Lisbon, Karns was fined $10 and costs, the state patrol reported. No one was injured in the crash.

EXPORT PERMITS ISSUED SLOWLY

State Department Has Had To Prepare New Applications

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Issuance of licenses for the export of war materials to Britain and France has begun at the state department—but only in driblets.

Some officials who envisioned long lines of applicants waiting for the state department doors to open every morning this week have been disappointed.

One reason for the delay is the fact that the department had to prepare new application blanks. The neutrality law requires more detailed information from the manufacturers and exporters of war materials than did the preceding act.

Nearly $80,000,000 in export licenses had to be cancelled when the arms embargo of the old act was imposed, but these will be reissued as fast as the applications come in and are approved. The cancelled licenses were almost entirely to Britain, France and Australia, and called principally for airplanes.

Licenses issued in the next month or so are expected to total several hundred million dollars.

Administration of the new neutrality act is imposing more onerous duties on the state department and on the treasury, which supervises much of the "cash and carry" program.

About 160 organizations have registered with the state department for permission to collect funds for charitable distribution in the belligerent countries. Department officials are finding in some cases that they are being called on to act virtually as accountants to help the organizations straighten out their books.

The principal problem arising since the neutrality act was signed last Saturday has been the application of the United States lines for transfer of eight ships to Panamanian registry so that they might continue in transatlantic service.

Thos. Spencer Dies At Daughter's Home

Thomas Spencer, about 80, died at 9:15 a. m. today at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Robert L. Wright, 492 Woodland ave. Infirmities was the cause of death.

Mr. Spencer, who for many years managed the Singer Sewing Machine Co. agency here, was born in Westmoreland county, Virginia, Feb. 21, 1860. He was married to Addie Brode Sept. 19, 1883 at Fairmont, W. Va.

He had been a resident of Salem for 45 years, living previously at Toronto.

Survivors include, besides Mrs. Wright, another daughter, Mrs. Emmor H. Taylor of Salem, two grandchildren, and a half-brother, C. V. Spencer of Jeanette, Pa.

Private funeral service will be held at 2:30 p. m. Saturday at the Arbaugh-Pearce funeral home in charge of Rev. R. D. Walter. Burial will be in Hope cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 7 to 9 p. m. Friday.

RAYMOND WINS ORATORY EEVNT

Will Compete Next In County Prince of Peace Contest

Lewis Raymond, Jr., won the Prince of Peace declamation contest Wednesday night in the First Baptist church. He spoke on the subject, "The Dignity of Man."

Raymond is now eligible for the Columbiana county contest which will be held sometime in December. District and state events will follow. The state contest will be held in February during the Ohio Pastors' conference in Coumbus.

Awarded second place, or that of alternate, in last night's competition was Dorothy Hinkley, who spoke on "The Message of the Bronze Plaque."

There were three other contestants. Judges were Miss M. Maude Hart, Miss Viola Bodo and J. C. Guiler of the Salem High school faculty.

PENSIONS SEEN BUGABOO IN '40

Future Course of Two Parties Remains Matter of Conjecture

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Nov. 9.—Pensions for Ohio's indigent aged are likely to become the political bugaboo of both major parties in the 1940 general election campaign.

While Ohio voters rejected the controversial Bigelow pension proposal in Tuesday's election, another is expected to rear its head next year.

Not So Chummy Next Year

Democrats and Republicans battled side by side to crush the Bigelow plan but next year they won't be so chummy as they go after votes to feather their own congressional and state office nests.

Only slightly more than 400,000 persons voted for the Bigelow plan. That's quite a block of ballots, though, and in case of a close Republican-Democrat race it might be a pivotal factor.

Republicans, since they control the administration and legislature, appear to be in the best position to woo support of Ohio's aged by increasing present pensions, but the administration contends the state lacks necessary funds.

Gov. John W. Bricker has indicated he may call a special session early next year to consider pressing poor relief needs in several Ohio industrial centers and pressure might be brought on him to propose increasing present pensions, despite budget considerations, in order to head off support for new proposals now being drafted by Rev. Herbert S. Bigelow.

Bigelow's defeated plan would have guaranteed incomes to persons past 60. Ohio now aids 122,000 needy persons over 65 with sums averaging $23 monthly. The state can pay up to $30 monthly and the federal government shares the cost equally but the federal law now permits a $40 maximum.

Democrats In Middle

If the Republican administration increased pensions, the Democrats would be left in the middle. They would have to ignore the Republicans' efforts, draft a more liberal program of their own, or support Bigelow's contemplated new plan.

The support Bigelow did get, much less than his opponents had anticipated, virtually eliminated him as a possible threat for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in 1940 unless too many Democrats get into the race.

Bigelow has disclaimed any intention of running for governor, but his friends circulated petitions in his behalf and some Democrats felt that if his pension plan polled a substantial vote he might be influenced to make the race.

The Bricker administration, however, did not risk upsetting state party harmony by taking sides in either of the local fights.

Commissioners To Confer With Gill On Jail Problem

LISBON, Nov. 9.—Just what action the state expects to take in regard to the old county jail was expected to be learned by Columbiana county commissioners at Columbus today.

The commissioners went to Columbus to see the state highway director about improving Route 30 for a distance of three miles south of Lisbon, and to see State Fire Marshal Ray Gill relative to the county jail.

Gill condemned the jail several months ago and the commissioners put up a two-mill levy for a new prison. Voters rejected it at Tuesday's election.

Rally and Festival Held by Leaguers

Approximately 240 young people of Epworth Leagues in Columbiana county attended a rally and booth festival at the Methodist church were Wednesday evening.

Booths, arranged by the league units, were filled with produce and gifts for the Methodist children's home at Berea. The certificate for the most attractive displays went to East Fairfield and East Palestine leagues and the most valuable to East Fairfield and New Waterford.

The program, arranged by Lee Willman and Lois Hoover, local chairman, included songs by the group, led by Ed Miller of East Liverpool; scripture reading, Miss Dorothy Middleton of Rogers; music by the Lisbon Sunday school orchestra; and movies shown by Rev. Wolf, home representative of the Berea children's home.

Lunch was served during a social hour.

Ohio's Treasury Balance In Gain

COLUMBUS, Nov. 9. — State Treasurer Don H. Ebright today reported a treasury balance on Oct. 31 of $45,607,018, approximately $8,647,000 greater than on the corresponding date last year, which he said was due to increased tax revenues and lower state expenditures.

Gandhi's Demand For India's Freedom Problem For Britain

Situation Is Doubly Bad Because of British Involvement In European War

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

Gandhi's fresh demand on Britain for Indian freedom increases the seriousness of a situation which is doubly bad for England because of her involvement in the European war.

Such a demand coming from this great nationalist leader is no light matter.

The famous little ascetic is by far the most powerful figure in India and speaks with the authority of many millions of followers, who look to him not only for political but for spiritual guidance.

This new development follows closely adoption of the dangerous weapon of passive resistance against the British government by all India National Congress party, which Gandhi controls.

London's undoubted concern must be increased by reports that Russia is planning to take advantage of the European crisis to try to bring India into the Communist fold.

For India's Benefit

Incidentally, a charge that India is oppressed was made in the Communist International's manifesto Monday.

Passive resistance, which means wholesale non-cooperation, can be terribly effective if properly handled and it is an expedient with which the Nationalists are quite familiar through past usage.

It was set in motion again by the resignation of six provincial governments controlled by the Nationalists, and others are expected to follow. This is of course calculated to stop, or at least impede, the machinery of state.

Gandhi, in announcing the start of passive resistance, added:

"I will resist civil disobedience (active resistance) unless I find the country prepared for that."

Such an intimation of possible active resistance, even coming from a noted peace-advocate like Gandhi, has a disturbing sound.

Any sort of ferment set going in an empire of 350,000,000 Oriental people—roughly a sixth of the world's total population—is something to watch.

It seems almost incredible but Gandhi literally is worshipped by countless Indians as a divine being.

EXPERIENCE TEACHES A LESSON

In Ohio and California, where voters had to decide the question first-hand, and in every other state of the union, where voters awaited the outcome in these two states, experience has taught a lesson about direct voting on screwball pension plans.

The lesson is that representative democracy has nothing to gain by abusing the power of initiative to place before voters questions that demand special study. Too much effort must be spent in educating the whole electorate sufficiently to offset the voting power of compact minorities resolved to high-pressure their pet ideas to victory.

In other words, the Bigelow pension plan in Ohio and the ham-and-eggs plan in California, which would have been rejected automatically by any legislative committee worth its salt, were allowed to threaten the security of entire states by being made emotional issues. In each case, rejection was made to turn not on cold facts but on ability of the opposition to use cold facts to rally its forces in a free-for-all.

This is not the kind of government the founding fathers envisaged for the United States. This is not representative democracy at all, but a process of suspending representative democracy—a flagrant abuse of the power of initiative, which is most effectual when held in reserve for bona fide emergencies.

If pressure groups continue to use the privilege of initiative to imperil representative democracy, the inevitable and proper effect will be to boost requirements for placing issues on the ballot. The safety of representative democracy would demand it. Contrary to the theory of the other Bigelow proposal reducing requirements for exercising initiative and referendum, sober judgment warns that the requirements already are so low that they invite abuse by pressure groups.

HOW TO MAKE WAR DISAPPEAR

That's a fine idea for getting around the neutrality act that U. S. shipping interests have thought up. They change registry of their boats to another country, fly that country's flag, fire their American sailors, replace them with foreigners and presto chango, everything is set to ply the waters of the Atlantic as usual, with Old Glory safe at home.

It's either this, say the shipping interests, or ruin. If the United States government wants to keep the American flag out of danger that's its business. But if shipping interests want to do business as usual, that's their business. This puts neutrality on a business basis, which is where realistic neutrals like Switzerland and the Netherlands, for instance, insist it belongs.

There are complications. United States sailors don't like the idea of sitting on their hands while foreigners take their places. They'd like to do business as usual too. And what about Panama, which seems to be the nation chosen to supply the foreign registry and the flag? What's to keep Panama from working itself into high dudgeon when its newly acquired merchant marine gets kicked around?

If German ships transferred registry to Monaco (Monte Carlo), British ships to Leichtenstein, and French ships to Luxembourg, perhaps the whole war could be dissolved in a salt water solution and everyone then could live happily ever after.

THE TROJAN HORSE GALLOPS AGAIN

Dust is being blown off the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence deep waterway treaty again. If signs mean anything, its provisions are going to be used as fodder for another Trojan horse, brother to the steed that browses in the Tennessee valley under the phoney name of navigation.

Canada, as even little children now know, is scheduled for intensive industrial development by British interests as a war measure. It is a safely remote source of supply. This calls for electric power. Electric power in a country without coal calls for hydro-electric development.

What could be more natural under the circumstances than for Canadians to think seriously now about the resources of the St. Lawrence river, where vast amounts of electric power would be developed if the United States and Canada could get together on "navigation" improvement in the international rapids?

Canada would get electricity—and navigation. The United States would get navigation, desired by port cities on the great lakes—and electric power. Incidentally, the United States also would get the bulk of the bill, but that's customary.

It will be a bright day when production of hydro-electric power on the North American continent quits hiding behind navigation, flood control and soil erosion and stands on its own feet, where taxpayers and private producers of electricity have a right to demand it should stand if they're going to pay for its development.

DISRESPECT IS MUTUAL

Molotoff, threatening to become a bigger name in Russia than Stalin, thinks the United States repealed the arms embargo because it was interested in profit. The dirty capitalists, sneers the Soviet commissar for foreign affairs, are behind the deal.

The American bourgeois, says Pravda, Communist newspaper, are the real culprits. They are interested in feeding huge profits to the munitions kings. That must be encouraging to the munitions kings.

This would be worth getting hot and bothered about if it weren't for the fact Americans already have charged that the Russians reversed their policy toward Nazi Germany in order to gang up on Great Britain and France for the purpose of waging world revolution and turning the proletariat loose on a campaign of annihilation.

There is, in other words, nothing any Russian could say about the United States that would reflect half as much discredit on its motives in repealing the arms embargo as almost any American already has said about Russian motives for repealing the anti-Hitler policy. Americans couldn't begin to be as unworthy in this war as they know the Russians are, so there's really nothing worth arguing.

MAKE WAY FOR TOMORROW!

Now that it's all over and the embargo on brotherly love has been lifted again, please don't forget the campaign signs.

Like fallen heroes on a battlefield, they're entitled to decent burial. A truce will be allowed for the purpose. No reprisals will be tolerated.

They've served their purpose, and the best way to get them out of mind is to get them out of sight. Make way for tomorrow—when every inch of space will be needed for the campaign cards of 1940!

THE STARS SAY:

For Friday, November 10

MODERATELY lively and auspicious conditions prevail on this day, according to the lunar transits. Fairly pleasant and profitable situations may develop in business as well as domestic, sentimental, social and cultural interests. There is some menace of inharmony, disappointment or defeat as a result of over-arduous or drastic manipulation of affairs, or because of the brewing of petty duplicities, schemes or other ulterior motives. Be vigilant.

Those whose birthday it is are assured a year of fair success and happiness in both business and personal activities, if they will keep alert to trivial deceits, plots, intrigues or other petty undermining conditions. Also, over-activity or ruthlessness may precipitate defeat and inharmony.

A child born on this day may have a rather complex and difficult nature, although it should be active, able and personally popular. It may be disposed to attain its ends by resort to petty treacheries and debatable tactics.

"SON CARRIES ON FATHER'S BUSINESS!"

Are You Capable Driver? Queries Dr. Clendening

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Tests to determine whether an owner is capable of driving an automobile are applied in a very careless and incomplete way. Automobiles have now taken rank as more dangerous than pneumonia on the American continent, yet our states and municipalities take no particular care to rule out the unfit among drivers, and regard with cynical complacency the rules which could be enforced to forbid dangerous drivers from jeopardizing the lives of their fellow citizens.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

A complete examination of applicants for a driver's license should have three parts—physical condition, mental condition and vision. The last is the most important.

There are several aspects of vision which much be considered:

The psychological aspect, which includes the synthesis of visual sensation into perception and its modification by bad judgment, bad attitude and mental disease. This is common enough. The habitual accident creator is defective in some way on the psychologic side, and excuses made for him are ruled off the record because his trouble is too deep to be corrected by good intentions.

Easily Corrected

Disorders of refraction of the eye. These can easily be corrected. A refractive error does not necessarily give any symptoms, so a routine examination of drivers is necessary to detect them.

Disorders of the retinal function. This is a new field, created by the automobile. It includes glare sensitivity. The capacity of the eye to function at night is of extreme importance. Seventy per cent of automobile accidents occur between 6 p. m. and 6 a. m.

A machine, appropriately named the glarometer, has been invented and is used in several cities to test applicants for driving licenses. It consists of a box into which the patient looks and reads letters printed on a screen, but illuminated with a 300-watt lamp. The glare is cut down and the letters changed every 10 seconds until almost complete darkness is reached.

Third Unfit to Drive

In making a large series of tests, almost a third of the applicants were so glare sensitive that they were graded 10 on a basis of 100. That means that we must face the startling fact that a third of the people driving automobiles are physically unable to drive safely at night.

The problem of color vision does not appear to be serious. Only about five per cent of people are color blind at all, and these have trained themselves so that they recognize a difference in red and green lights. Only 12 out of 1,000 color-blind persons had a record of going through a red light. This figure is given out by the investigating department of a large city. I am told that three completely color-blind persons have been given awards for safe driving. This is contrary to views heretofore expressed in this column, and I am happy to make the correction.

Questions and Answers

D. D.: "What effect has coffee on a nervous person? Does it affect the heart in any way?"

Answer: The fundamental effect of coffee is to increase the circulation of the blood. By driving more blood through the brain it causes wakefulness; by driving more blood through the heart it improves the condition of the heart muscle. Nervousness is a vague term, and it is not easy to decide whether coffee produces nervousness. In that people are more wakeful, it probably does.

Mrs. G. B.: "Can an overactive thyroid be cured without an operation? Can it cause indigestion, dizziness and visual troubles?"

Answer: There is hardly any subject in medicine that requires more judgment than the decision about the treatment of a case of this kind. Undoubtedly such cases get well without operation, but if the condition is allowed to go on too long, there may be heart damage and eye damage. Certainly the decision and management must be left to the family physician. The symptoms mentioned can all be caused by overactive thyroid.

F. B.: "What causes ulcers of the intestines? Can they be treated and how? And if they are not treated what will be the result?"

Answer: An ulcer in the intestine is just the same as an ulcer any place else in the body. An ulcer is a solution of continuity in the mucous membrane. The causes are (1) chemical. For instance, if you burn yourself with acid on the skin, an ulcer will result. (2) Physical. If you get a grain of sand in your eye, it will eventually result in an ulcer. (3) Infection. A germ may light on a mucous membrane surface and cause cluer. Ulcer in the intestine is more likely to be infectious than of any other kind. All ulcers tend to heal. Ulcers of the intestines, if left alone, and if on a bland diet, will also heal.

EXPERIENCE TEACHES A LESSON

In Ohio and California, where voters had to decide the question first-hand, and in every other state of the union, where voters awaited the outcome in these two states, experience has taught a lesson about direct voting on screwball pension plans.

The lesson is that representative democracy has nothing to gain by abusing the power of initiative to place before voters questions that demand special study. Too much effort must be spent in educating the whole electorate sufficiently to offset the voting power of compact minorities resolved to high-pressure their pet ideas to victory.

In other words, the Bigelow pension plan in Ohio and the ham-and-eggs plan in California, which would have been rejected automatically by any legislative committee worth its salt, were allowed to threaten the security of entire states by being made emotional issues. In each case, rejection was made to turn not on cold facts but on ability of the opposition to use cold facts to rally its forces in a free-for-all.

This is not the kind of government the founding fathers envisaged for the United States. This is not representative democracy at all, but a process of suspending representative democracy—a flagrant abuse of the power of initiative, which is most effectual when held in reserve for bona fide emergencies.

If pressure groups continue to use the privilege of initiative to imperil representative democracy, the inevitable and proper effect will be to boost requirements for placing issues on the ballot. The safety of representative democracy would demand it. Contrary to the theory of the other Bigelow proposal reducing requirements for exercising initiative and referendum, sober judgment warns that the requirements already are so low that they invite abuse by pressure groups.

HOW TO MAKE WAR DISAPPEAR

That's a fine idea for getting around the neutrality act that U. S. shipping interests have thought up. They change registry of their boats to another country, fly that country's flag, fire their American sailors, replace them with foreigners and presto chango, everything is set to ply the waters of the Atlantic as usual, with Old Glory safe at home.

It's either this, say the shipping interests, or ruin. If the United States government wants to keep the American flag out of danger that's its business. But if shipping interests want to do business as usual, that's their business. This puts neutrality on a business basis, which is where realistic neutrals like Switzerland and the Netherlands, for instance, insist it belongs.

There are complications. United States sailors don't like the idea of sitting on their hands while foreigners take their places. They'd like to do business as usual too. And what about Panama, which seems to be the nation chosen to supply the foreign registry and the flag? What's to keep Panama from working itself into high dudgeon when its newly acquired merchant marine gets kicked around?

If German ships transferred registry to Monaco (Monte Carlo), British ships to Leichtenstein, and French ships to Luxembourg, perhaps the whole war could be dissolved in a salt water solution and everyone then could live happily ever after.

THE TROJAN HORSE GALLOPS AGAIN

Dust is being blown off the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence deep waterway treaty again. If signs mean anything, its provisions are going to be used as fodder for another Trojan horse, brother to the steed that browses in the Tennessee valley under the phoney name of navigation.

Canada, as even little children now know, is scheduled for intensive industrial development by British interests as a war measure. It is a safely remote source of supply. This calls for electric power. Electric power in a country without coal calls for hydro-electric development.

What could be more natural under the circumstances than for Canadians to think seriously now about the resources of the St. Lawrence river, where vast amounts of electric power would be developed if the United States and Canada could get together on "navigation" improvement in the international rapids?

Canada would get electricity—and navigation. The United States would get navigation, desired by port cities on the great lakes—and electric power. Incidentally, the United States also would get the bulk of the bill, but that's customary.

It will be a bright day when production of hydro-electric power on the North American continent quits hiding behind navigation, flood control and soil erosion and stands on its own feet, where taxpayers and private producers of electricity have a right to demand it should stand if they're going to pay for its development.

DISRESPECT IS MUTUAL

Molotoff, threatening to become a bigger name in Russia than Stalin, thinks the United States repealed the arms embargo because it was interested in profit. The dirty capitalists, sneers the Soviet commissar for foreign affairs, are behind the deal.

The American bourgeois, says Pravda, Communist newspaper, are the real culprits. They are interested in feeding huge profits to the munitions kings. That must be encouraging to the munitions kings.

This would be worth getting hot and bothered about if it weren't for the fact Americans already have charged that the Russians reversed their policy toward Nazi Germany in order to gang up on Great Britain and France for the purpose of waging world revolution and turning the proletariat loose on a campaign of annihilation.

There is, in other words, nothing any Russian could say about the United States that would reflect half as much discredit on its motives in repealing the arms embargo as almost any American already has said about Russian motives for repealing the anti-Hitler policy. Americans couldn't begin to be as unworthy in this war as they know the Russians are, so there's really nothing worth arguing.

MAKE WAY FOR TOMORROW!

Now that it's all over and the embargo on brotherly love has been lifted again, please don't forget the campaign signs.

Like fallen heroes on a battlefield, they're entitled to decent burial. A truce will be allowed for the purpose. No reprisals will be tolerated.

They've served their purpose, and the best way to get them out of mind is to get them out of sight. Make way for tomorrow—when every inch of space will be needed for the campaign cards of 1940!

FORTY YEARS AGO

(Issue of November 9, 1899)

Mrs. W. E. Shaffer of Stamford, Conn., formerly of this city, who has been ill of appendicites in a hospital there, is improving. Mr. Shaffer was at one time employed by the Salem Electric Street Railway Co.

The season for quail shooting will open tomorrow. A number of parties have been organized to go hunting the birds. Quail is plentiful this year.

Mrs. W. J. Glass of East High st., went to Moultrie today to visit with friends and relatives.

THIRTY YEARS AGO

(Issue of November 9, 1909)

John F. Tescher of the board of township trustees has determined to have the township roads in as good a condition as possible. Crude oil is to be used in a manner found so successful in the southern and western states. The method followed is to sprinkle the oil on the roads from carts when the roads are wet. Traffic then works the oil into the top surface of the road, making a hard surface that sheds rain and will not rut.

Elmer Kesselmire left Tuesday morning for Cleveland on a brief visit.

Mrs. Mary Salisbury of Akron is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Votaw on Vine st.

Miss Ada Walton of Ellsworth ave., was off duty today at the Bell telephone exchange, because of illness.

Mrs. F. J. Emeny went to Cleveland Tuesday morning to be the guest of her sister, Mrs. George Bowman.

Arthur P. Mullins returned to Cleveland Tuesday morning after a brief visit with his father, Att'y F. J. Mullins.

Att'y Jason Brooks of East Liverpool was in Salem Monday and Tuesday, visiting friends and attending the production of "The Climax" Monday evening.

Judson Whitaker, who lives four miles north of Lisbon, harvested 3,100 bushels of prime apples from a 16-acre orchard containing 450 trees. He received 95c a bushel for the hand-picked apples and 75c a bushel for the windfalls.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

(Issue of November 9, 1919)

Representative Frank Murphy is to speak at the Armistice day banquet given by W. H. Mullins Tuesday evening at the Calumet club rooms to the war work organization in commemoration of the signing of the armistice a year ago.

C. O. Barnes of this city was awarded two silver cups at the annual rabbit show of the Rabbit Breeders association which closed Sunday evening after having been in progress at the Vine st. rink for three days. Mr. Barnes' cups were awarded for Grey Flemish and sweepstakes. There were a number of out-of-town fanciers from Akron, Canton, Ashtabula, Alliance and other nearby towns present on Sunday.

H. W. Young and R. M. Atchison have purchased the Chamber of Commerce Building, it was announced today. This block was built by the late J. M. Woodruff and J. R. Vernon, the former disposing of his interest to Mr. Vernon a few years ago. This is one of the most modern buildings on Main st., with a front of 25 feet. The new purchasers have not announced their plans regarding the tenants of the building.

Coach Ernie Godfrey of Wittenberg and Samuel Willaman of Cleveland were Sunday guests at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Willaman.

Mrs. F. L. Englert left this morning for Leetonia, where she will attend the wedding of her sister, Miss Mary Waltzer, which is to take place in that city today.

Miss Lena Beardmore returned to Kent Normal school Sunday after spending the weekend with relatives in this city.

THE STARS SAY:

For Friday, November 10

MODERATELY lively and auspicious conditions prevail on this day, according to the lunar transits. Fairly pleasant and profitable situations may develop in business as well as domestic, sentimental, social and cultural interests. There is some menace of inharmony, disappointment or defeat as a result of over-arduous or drastic manipulation of affairs, or because of the brewing of petty duplicities, schemes or other ulterior motives. Be vigilant.

Those whose birthday it is are assured a year of fair success and happiness in both business and personal activities, if they will keep alert to trivial deceits, plots, intrigues or other petty undermining conditions. Also, over-activity or ruthlessness may precipitate defeat and inharmony.

A child born on this day may have a rather complex and difficult nature, although it should be active, able and personally popular. It may be disposed to attain its ends by resort to petty treacheries and debatable tactics.

A federal survey, just completed, of the great state of Ohio, reveals 3,000,000 acres of timber, not counting presidential.

A new invention kills boll weevils, Secretary Wallace's little helpers in reducing the cotton crop. What ho! Treason!

It is a wonder that some enterprising manufacturer of auto appliances hasn't brought out a heater which looks like an open fireplace.

"SON CARRIES ON FATHER'S BUSINESS!"

Are You Capable Driver? Queries Dr. Clendening

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Tests to determine whether an owner is capable of driving an automobile are applied in a very careless and incomplete way. Automobiles have now taken rank as more dangerous than pneumonia on the American continent, yet our states and municipalities take no particular care to rule out the unfit among drivers, and regard with cynical complacency the rules which could be enforced to forbid dangerous drivers from jeopardizing the lives of their fellow citizens.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

A complete examination of applicants for a driver's license should have three parts—physical condition, mental condition and vision. The last is the most important.

There are several aspects of vision which much be considered:

The psychological aspect, which includes the synthesis of visual sensation into perception and its modification by bad judgment, bad attitude and mental disease. This is common enough. The habitual accident creator is defective in some way on the psychologic side, and excuses made for him are used off the record because his trouble is too deep to be corrected by good intentions.

Easily Corrected

Disorders of refraction of the eye. These can easily be corrected. A refractive error does not necessarily give any symptoms, so a routine examination of drivers is necessary to detect them.

Disorders of the retinal function. This is a new field, created by the automobile. It includes glare sensitivity. The capacity of the eye to function at night is of extreme importance. Seventy per cent of automobile accidents occur between 6 p. m. and 6 a. m.

A machine, appropriately named the glarometer, has been invented and is used in several cities to test applicants for driving licenses. It consists of a box into which the patient looks and reads letters printed on a screen, but illuminated with a 300-watt lamp. The glare is cut down and the letters changed every 10 seconds until almost complete darkness is reached.

Third Unfit to Drive

In making a large series of tests, almost a third of the applicants were so glare sensitive that they were graded 10 on a basis of 100. That means that we must face the startling fact that a third of the people driving automobiles are physically unable to drive safely at night.

The problem of color vision does not appear to be serious. Only about five per cent of people are color blind at all, and these have trained themselves so that they recognize a difference in red and green lights. Only 12 out of 1,000 color-blind persons had a record of going through a red light. This figure is given out by the investigating department of a large city. I am told that three completely color-blind persons have been given awards for safe driving. This is contrary to views heretofore expressed in this column, and I am happy to make the correction.

Questions and Answers

D. D.: "What effect has coffee on a nervous person? Does it affect the heart in any way?"

Answer: The fundamental effect of coffee is to increase the circulation of the blood. By driving more blood through the brain it causes wakefulness; by driving more blood through the heart it improves the condition of the heart muscle. Nervousness is a vague term, and it is not easy to decide whether coffee produces nervousness. In that people are more wakeful, it probably does.

Mrs. G. B.: "Can an overactive thyroid be cured without an operation? Can it cause indigestion, dizziness and visual troubles?"

Answer: There is hardly any subject in medicine that requires more judgment than the decision about the treatment of a case of this kind. Undoubtedly such cases get well without operation, but if the condition is allowed to go on too long, there may be heart damage and eye damage. Certainly the decision and management must be left to the family physician. The symptoms mentioned can all be caused by overactive thyroid.

F. B.: "What causes ulcers of the intestines? Can they be treated and how? And if they are not treated, what will be the result?"

Answer: An ulcer in the intestine is just the same as an ulcer any place else in the body. An ulcer is a solution of continuity in the mucous membrane. The causes are (1) chemical. For instance, if you burn yourself with acid on the skin, an ulcer will result. (2) Physical. If you get a grain of sand in your eye, it will eventually result in an ulcer. (3) Infection. A germ may light on a mucous membrane surface and cause cluer. Ulcer in the intestine is more likely to be infectious than of any other kind. All ulcers tend to heal. Ulcers of the intestines, if left alone, and if on a bland diet, will also heal.

Theatre Attractions

The adventure drama centers around the exploits of the Philippine Scouts, a constabulary formed at the conclusion of the Spanish-American war to restore peace and order in the islands, who rallied to their support loyal natives and peaceful Moros.

The Moros, a tribe of unorthodox Mohammedans, had retreated to the hills and jungles to wage a fierce religious war against the few American troops on the island after the mass evacuation when the war ended.

Playing the role of a doctor for the first time in his career, Cooper comes to the outpost for medical experience and remains to quell the rebellion and establish peace.

MOUNT RAINIER NATIONAL PARK, Wash.—Travelers from 22 foreign countries, five United States possessions and the 48 states and the District of Columbia were among the 361,787 visitors to the park this year. It was the second largest number of visitors in history.

MONTREAL — Three men are serving six-month jail terms here for cultivating opium-poppy on a farm near St. Jerome. The field, believed to be the first ever found in Canada, was burned by police.

Theatre Attractions

The adventure drama centers around the exploits of the Philippine Scouts, a constabulary formed at the conclusion of the Spanish-American war to restore peace and order in the islands, who rallied to their support loyal natives and peaceful Moros.

The Moros, a tribe of unorthodox Mohammedans, had retreated to the hills and jungles to wage a fierce religious war against the few American troops on the island after the mass evacuation when the war ended.

Playing the role of a doctor for the first time in his career, Cooper comes to the outpost for medical experience and remains to quell the rebellion and establish peace.

MOUNT RAINIER NATIONAL PARK, Wash.—Travelers from 22 foreign countries, five United States possessions and the 48 states and the District of Columbia were among the 361,787 visitors to the park this year. It was the second largest number of visitors in history.

Interesting Program Given At Leornians Club Meeting

Mrs. Herbert Brown and Mrs. Deane Beck were in charge of the roll call at a meeting of the Leornians club Wednesday evening in the library assembly room.

Members responded with facts contradicting the pictures drawn by Author John Steinbeck in his much discussed best seller "Grapes of Wrath."

Mrs. Glenn Broomall was a guest at the program which followed a business session.

A play, "Tea and Conversation" was presented as the first part of a novel "word clinic" program, with Mrs. Howard Morgan, Mrs. Donald Parks, Mrs. James Pettyjohn and Mrs. John Holzwarth in the cast.

Other features of the "clinic" were in the form of word contests. Mrs. Robert Buckholdt acted as chairman of the entertainment committee.

Mrs. Arlan Fultz Heads Club

Mrs. Arlan Fultz was named president of the Vernal Grove Homemakers club at a meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Hoopes on the Winona rd.

Mrs. Ralph Crawford is vice president and Miss Mary Benedict is secretary-treasurer.

Fifteen members and two guests, Mrs. James Hoopes and daughter, Caroline, enjoyed a program of interesting readings, in charge of the executive committee.

The program included: "Changes", Mrs. Frank Frederick; "Life Runs Deeply", Mrs. Marion Bower; "Pins and Needles", Mrs. Kirby Dilworth; "Our Flag Was Still There", Miss Mary Benedict; "Building the Will to War", Mrs. Samuel Whinery.

Mrs. Fultz entertained with piano selections. Lunch was served during the social hour which followed the program.

A Christmas gift exchange will feature the Dec. 13 meeting at the home of Mrs. William Hoopes on the Coffee School rd.

Today's Pattern

HOUSEDRESS WITH PEAKED WAIST

Pattern 4300.

When you're playing the gracious "lady-at-home," you'll find this young matron housefrock, Anne Adams' Pattern 4300, fills the role perfectly. The yoked back comes in one easy piece over the shoulders to form decorative, pointed front yokes, with darts and fullness below for soft bodice fit. You'll love the slimming, double-peaked waistline and the nicely panelled skirt. Make the sleeves in puffs or short flares, and cut the front skirt panel and the yoke on the bias if you like. Gay colorful touches are ric-rac edging, buttons and perky bow ends.

Pattern 4300 is available in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 takes 3⅞ yards 35-inch fabric and 1⅞ yards ric-rac.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS and STYLE NUMBER.

Let ANNE ADAMS' WINTER PATTERN BOOK take you on a trip through Fashionland . . . in your own living room! Starting with day and evening styles in the new silhouette, you flick on to slimming modes for matrons, lively wardrobes for co-ed and schoolgirl, street and sports wear and gay house clothes. There is even a windowful of gift ideas. And each article is YOURS on easy-to-meet terms of thread, needle, fabric and an Anne Adams pattern! Order a book today! BOOK, FIFTEEN CENTS. BAND PUSHING CONCERT PLANS

High School Will Present Petrie Musicians Monday Evening

The High school band has completed plans for the Herbert Petrie concert which it will sponsor at 8:15 p. m. Monday in the High school auditorium.

Chester M. Brautigam, director of the High school band and general chairman of the concert, announced that already 300 reservations have been accepted.

Steudents who are chairmen of various committees include: Homer Asmus, publicity; Betty England and Vivian Foltz, ticket sales; Ada Shriver, contact; Alex Simion, stage and arrangements. All members of the band are anxiously looking forward to the concert since it is, in the opinion of both faculty and students, the largest and finest entertainment that they have ever attempted to sponsor.

Petrie's Music camp has been a source of interest to many of the students who particularly enjoy music. It has been situated at Winona lake, Ind., for the last three summers, and it is a school where a limited number of outstanding High school students are accepted for study under a nationally known faculty. Ralph E. Rush of Cleveland, president of the Ohio Music association, is a member of the Petrie staff.

Miss Margaret O'Donnell, who is working with the committee as an advance representative, described the concert group as a symphonic and operatic ensemble composed of a group of recognized artists who have been gathered together under the direction of Petrie.

Interesting Program Given At Leornians Club Meeting

Mrs. Herbert Brown and Mrs. Deane Beck were in charge of the roll call at a meeting of the Leornians club Wednesday evening in the library assembly room.

Members responded with facts contradicting the pictures drawn by Author John Steinbeck in his much discussed best seller "Grapes of Wrath."

Mrs. Glenn Broomall was a guest at the program which followed a business session.

A play, "Tea and Conversation" was presented as the first part of a novel "word clinic" program, with Mrs. Howard Morgan, Mrs. Donald Parks, Mrs. James Pettyjohn and Mrs. John Holzwarth in the cast.

Other features of the "clinic" were in the form of word contests. Mrs. Robert Buckholdt acted as chairman of the entertainment committee.

Mrs. Arlan Fultz Heads Club

Mrs. Arlan Fultz was named president of the Vernal Grove Homemakers club at a meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Hoopes on the Winona rd.

Mrs. Ralph Crawford is vice president and Miss Mary Benedict is secretary-treasurer.

Fifteen members and two guests, Mrs. James Hoopes and daughter, Caroline, enjoyed a program of interesting readings, in charge of the executive committee.

The program included: "Changes", Mrs. Frank Frederick; "Life Runs Deeply", Mrs. Marion Bower; "Pins and Needles", Mrs. Kirby Dilworth; "Our Flag Was Still There", Miss Mary Benedict; "Building the Will to War", Mrs. Samuel Whinery.

Mrs. Fultz entertained with piano selections. Lunch was served during the social hour which followed the program.

A Christmas gift exchange will feature the Dec. 13 meeting at the home of Mrs. William Hoopes on the Coffee School rd.

Mrs. Don Gulley, critic for the evening, made her report.

Piano selections, "Kamennoi Ostrow" (Rubinstine) and "Trois Prelude" (Alexandre Tansman) played by Mrs. Lionel Smith, concluded the program.

A Christmas party in charge of the hospitality, house and program committees will feature the Dec. 13 meeting. A gift exchange will be held.

Pythian Sisters At Convention

District and state officers were present at sessions of the annual convention of District 18, Pythian Sisters, in Sebring Wednesday.

Those present included Mrs. Elizabeth Hoffman of Struthers, district deputy, who presided; Miss Adelaide Bellew of Cincinnati, new grand chief of Ohio; Mrs. Edna Fowler of Youngstown, past grand chief; Mrs. Will Probert of Salem, grand trustee.

Afternoon and evening sessions were marked by the representation of 16 temples in the district with 17 members of the local temple present. Mrs. Charles Ward was a delegate of Friendship temple No. 100, and Mrs. Louis Laurain acted as manager during the Knights of Pythias and the Pythian Sisters initiations.

Mrs. Probert served as a member of the registration committee for the day.

The regular meeting of the local group will be held at 7:30 tonight in the K. of P. hall.

Rev. Carl Asmus Is Speaker

Rev. Carl Asmus, pastor of the Methodist church, was principal speaker at the annual thank-offering service and program held by the Women's Missionary society in the Presbyterian church Wednesday afternoon.

Rev. Asmus spoke on the theme of the program, "Thanksgiving."

Devotional service was led by Mrs. G. J. Bunn, followed by a paper, "Late News From Siam," written by Mrs. H. K. Yaggi and read by Mrs. Walter Harwood.

Miss Ruth Alice Stoudt entertained with vocal selections, accompanied by Cleo Santee.

A thanksgiving service, arranged by Miss Bessie Cook, and a consecration program on the topic, "By Faith," led by Mrs. D. A. Wilhelm, concluded the service.

Supper was served at 5:30 p. m. by the November committee headed by Mrs. H. A. Walton.

A Christmas party will feature the Dec. 13 meeting at the church.

—o—

Missionary Speaks At Service

Miss Edna Engle, missionary on furlough from Guntur, India, was the featured speaker at the annual thank-offering service at the Trinity Lutheran church last night.

Miss Engle talked of her work among the Mohammendan women of that district, where she has been stationed since 1922.

The service was sponsored by the missionary societies of the church, with Mrs. Harry Izenhour of the Women's Missionary society, and Mrs. Wade Schaefer of the Jessie Thomas circle leading the devotionals.

Special music was furnished by the choir.

A large attendance was present at the meeting, including a group from the Lutheran church of North Georgetown.

HOUSEDRESS WITH PEAKED WAIST

Pattern 4300.

When you're playing the gracious "lady-at-home," you'll find this young matron housefrock, Anne Adams' Pattern 4300, fills the role perfectly. The yoked back comes in one easy piece over the shoulders to form decorative, pointed front yokes, with darts and fullness below for soft bodice fit. You'll love the slimming, double-peaked waistline and the nicely panelled skirt. Make the sleeves in puffs or short flares, and cut the front skirt panel and the yoke on the bias if you like. Gay colorful touches are ric-rac edging, buttons and perky bow ends.

Pattern 4300 is available in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 takes 3⅞ yards 35-inch fabric and 1⅞ yards ric-rac.

Cupid Wins Over War, Nazis

Jack Blatt, Jewish violinist, and his Gentile fiancee, were arrested when Germany seized Vienna last year, because they planned to marry. He escaped to Italy by plane, traveled to Dayton, Ohio, where he obtained work and applied for American citizenship. His sweetheart, after hiding in Austria five months, escaped into Belgium. Jack saved his money, went to Brussels and married her. They are pictured on their arrival in New York.

BAND PUSHING CONCERT PLANS

High School Will Present Petrie Musicians Monday Evening

The High school band has completed plans for the Herbert Petrie concert which it will sponsor at 8:15 p. m. Monday in the High school auditorium.

Chester M. Brautigam, director of the High school band and general chairman of the concert, announced that already 300 reservations have been accepted.

Steudents who are chairmen of various committees include: Homer Asmus, publicity; Betty England and Vivian Foltz, ticket sales; Ada Shriver, contact; Alex Simion, stage and arrangements. All members of the band are anxiously looking forward to the concert since it is, in the opinion of both faculty and students, the largest and finest entertainment that they have ever attempted to sponsor.

Petrie's Music camp has been a source of interest to many of the students who particularly enjoy music. It has been situated at Winona lake, Ind., for the last three summers, and it is a school where a limited number of outstanding High school students are accepted for study under a nationally known faculty. Ralph E. Rush of Cleveland, president of the Ohio Music association, is a member of the Petrie staff.

Miss Margaret O'Donnell, who is working with the committee as an advance representative, described the concert group as a symphonic and operatic ensemble composed of a group of recognized artists who have been gathered together under the direction of Petrie.

HISTORIC BIBLE BEING REVISED

Douay Version, Dating to 16th Century, Given Modern Text

CINCINNATI—The Douay version of the Bible, used by English-speaking Catholics throughout the world for hundreds of years, is to be replaced by a revised text conforming with the modern usage of the English language.

Completion of revision of the New Testament was announced during the fifth National Cathechetical Congress of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, which brought many of the country's leading Catholic clergymen and scholars here. Revision of the Old Testament already has been begun, it was reported.

The Confraternity is dedicated to the teaching of Christian doctrine to the estimated 2,000,000 Catholic children attending public schools in the United States. It was established in this country 35 years ago, but its origin dates back to the 17th Century when it was founded by the Holy See. Other phases of its work reach adult Catholics who need instruction, including those attending secular colleges and universities.

No Essential Changes

Revision of the New Testament was completed over a four-week period by a group of 27 nationally known scholars working in cooperation with the Catholic Biblical Association. In the new work, the Holy Scripture terms of "thee," "thou" and "thine" are retained, but use of capitals in pronouns referring to the Deity are eliminated.

It was emphasized, however, that revision does not mean that the Bible has been "streamlined" in the modern sense. Essential thoughts and meanings have been preserved scrupulously. Only certain words and passages—many of them not archaic—have been altered to make them conform with modern philological trends in the English language. The Douay (or Douai) Version was prepared in Douai, France, in the 16th Century by a group of exiled English Catholic scholars.

Galley proofs of sections of the revised New Testament were displayed at the congress. The new work will be published soon. Other displays included photostatic copies of pages from the Codex made at Louvain in 1583.

Other Displays

The Codex is a Latin edition of the Vulgate (St. Jerome's work on the Old and New Testaments) with marginal notes by Cardinal Carafa, from whom the Codex Carafianus takes its name.

Accorded the privilege of having two photostatic copies of the Codex Carafianus made at the Vatican, the Catholic Biblical Association displayed parts of one of them for the first time in the United States.

Behind the Westwall, Set to Bombard France

FAILS TO FIND HOPE FOR PEACE

obtained in another way," Chamberlain wrote.

But he reiterated:

"Since we have been compelled to take up arms we shall not lay them down until we are assured that Europe has been freed from the threats which have so long paralyzed the life of her peoples."

Observing that "this strangest of wars" must seem to many "no war at all but rather a sort of siege," he continued that at any moment it may change "into a violent conflict."

"Repeal of the neutrality act in the U. S. A.," he said, "reopens for the Allies the doors of the greatest storehouse of supplies in the world."

"We know that we cannot fail:" he concluded, "and I cherish the firm conviction that we shall live to see the foundation laid of a new world in which freedom and humanity will have superseded oppression and the rule of force."

Kiwanis Puts O. K. On Agricultural Program for 1940

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—A 1940 agricultural program to be pursued by 2,045 Kiwanis clubs in the United States and Canada was approved today by George Kienholz of Pierre, S. D., chairman of the organization's agricultural committee.

"In hundreds of cities farm marketing facilities are still very inadequate and contribute to higher prices paid for foodstuffs," Kienholz told officers of Kiwanis International at their annual council meeting.

"A study of marketing facilities will reveal many ways to improve service and lessen prices to consumers. Any improvement at all will result in lower retail prices."

The program will encourage rural youth activities, with club members assisting financially in farm projects. Kienholz said that during the last six years more than 2,000 Indiana farm youths have attended 4-H leadership training camps supervised by Kiwanis clubs. They were instructed so that they could direct projects for 30,000 others.

Other agricultural projects which the program envisions include dairy and grain exhibits, sponsorship of county fairs, cattle shows, agricultural implement demonstrations, introduction of new farm machinery equipment and development of curb markets.

Members of the committee which submitted the report include Renwick W. Dunlap of Kingston, O.

HISTORIC BIBLE BEING REVISED

Douay Version, Dating to 16th Century, Given Modern Text

CINCINNATI—The Douay version of the Bible, used by English-speaking Catholics throughout the world for hundreds of years, is to be replaced by a revised text conforming with the modern usage of the English language.

Completion of revision of the New Testament was announced during the fifth National Cathechetical Congress of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, which brought many of the country's leading Catholic clergymen and scholars here. Revision of the Old Testament already has been begun, it was reported.

The Confraternity is dedicated to the teaching of Christian doctrine to the estimated 2,000,000 Catholic children attending public schools in the United States. It was established in this country 35 years ago, but its origin dates back to the 17th Century when it was founded by the Holy See. Other phases of its work reach adult Catholics who need instruction, including those attending secular colleges and universities.

No Essential Changes

Revision of the New Testament was completed over a four-week period by a group of 27 nationally known scholars working in cooperation with the Catholic Biblical Association. In the new work, the Holy Scripture terms of "thee," "thou" and "thine" are retained, but use of capitals in pronouns referring to the Deity are eliminated.

It was emphasized, however, that revision does not mean that the Bible has been "streamlined" in the modern sense. Essential thoughts and meanings have been preserved scrupulously. Only certain words and passages—many of them nor archaic—have been altered to make them conform with modern philological trends in the English language. The Douay (or Douai) Version was prepared in Douai, France, in the 16th Century by a group of exiled English Catholic scholars.

Galley proofs of sections of the revised New Testament were displayed at the congress. The new work will be published soon. Other displays included photostatic copies of pages from the Codex made at Louvain in 1583.

Other Displays

The Codex is a Latin edition of the Vulgate (St. Jerome's work on the Old and New Testaments) with marginal notes by Cardinal Carafa, from whom the Codex Carafianus takes its name.

Accorded the privilege of having two photostatic copies of the Codex Carafianus made at the Vatican, the Catholic Biblical Association displayed parts of one of them for the first time in the United States.

Behind the Westwall, Set to Bombard France

FAILS TO FIND HOPE FOR PEACE

Chamberlain Says Germany Knows No Method But Force

obtained in another way," Chamberlain wrote.

But he reiterated:

"Since we have been compelled to take up arms we shall not lay them down until we are assured that Europe has been freed from the threats which have so long paralyzed the life of her peoples."

Observing that "this strangest of wars" must seem to many "no war at all but rather a sort of siege," he continued that at any moment it may change "into a violent conflict."

"Repeal of the neutrality act in the U. S. A.," he said, "reopens for the Allies the doors of the greatest storehouse of supplies in the world."

"We know that we cannot fail:" he concluded, "and I cherish the firm conviction that we shall live to see the foundation laid of a new world in which freedom and humanity will have superseded oppression and the rule of force."

COLUMBUS, Nov. 9. — Liquor stores throughout the state will be closed all day Saturday, Armistice day, it was announced today.

Kiwanis Puts O. K. On Agricultural Program for 1940

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—A 1940 agricultural program to be pursued by 2,045 Kiwanis clubs in the United States and Canada was approved today by George Kienholz of Pierre, S. D., chairman of the organization's agricultural committee.

"In hundreds of cities farm marketing facilities are still very inadequate and contribute to higher prices paid for foodstuffs," Kienholz told officers of Kiwanis International at their annual council meeting.

"A study of marketing facilities will reveal many ways to improve service and lessen prices to consumers. Any improvement at all will result in lower retail prices."

The program will encourage rural youth activities, with club members assisting financially in farm projects. Kienholz said that during the last six years more than 2,000 Indiana farm youths have attended 4-H leadership training camps supervised by Kiwanis clubs. They were instructed so that they could direct projects for 30,000 others.

Other agricultural projects which the program envisions include dairy and grain exhibits, sponsorship of county fairs, cattle shows, agricultural implement demonstrations, introduction of new farm machinery equipment and development of curb markets.

Members of the committee which submitted the report include Renwick W. Dunlap of Kingston, O.

SUPER-SERVICE STATION READY

Fitzpatrick Station, On E. State St., Will Open Friday

The new Fitzpatrick Super-Service station at 1136 E. State st. will have its formal opening Friday.

The modern new gas station was completed a week ago and now offers the most complete car service under the supervision of capable, courteous attendants.

Free gifts and souvenirs will be given away to customers tomorrow and Saturday, it is announced by James Fitzpatrick, station manager.

The station features Gulf gasoline, Goodrich tires and a complete line of automobile and other accessories.

The staff of experienced attendants includes Russell Fitzpatrick, assistant manager, Ray Hannay, expert in brake and general auto repair, and William Wright, who is in charge of the lubrication department.

New equipment at the service center is the latest on the market and much improved over the older types. The station has been so constructed as to provide ample parking space around the pumps in front.

Replacement Parts

The station will carry a complete line of replacement parts for all makes of automobiles and a service car is available at all times. The phone number is 1836. If you want a grease job, car wash or waxing, the attendants will call for and deliver your car.

In addition to auto parts, a complete line of other goods such as bicycles, radios, etc., will be displayed. Batteries, heaters, fog and driving lights, seat covers and the various miscellaneous car items will be carried. Fitzpatrick has been named agent for the Dine-DeWees Co., automobile jobbing house.

Good, clean restrooms will be open at all times.

Fitzpatrick also has been named district distributor for Goodrich Tires. Nearly 45 years ago the Goodrich campany became the pioneer of the rubber industry and scientific development when it opened the first rubber research laboratory.

Goodrich manufactured the first pneumatic tire in the United States and has developed the latest in "blow out proof" tires.

Matt hans was general contractor in the construction of the new Fitzpatrick station. Robert Starbuck, electrician, and the Stratton Plumbing and Heating Co. were other contractors.

Monarch of Bermuda Prepares to Run Blockade

With the lifting of embargo, Britain's luxurious passenger liners have been pressed into service to rush war supplies from the United States to the embattled Allies. Here, the crack Monarch of Bermuda, lately of the Bermuda run, transformed by her coat of battleship grey, is loaded at Brooklyn, N. Y., for a dash through the submarine blockade to England. Note barges in foreground and the bustle of activity along the waterfront.

Armistice Program Given by Students At Leetonia High

LEETONIA, Nov. 9—An Armistice day program was presented at the High school assembly Wednesday afternoon, with William Sterling as master of ceremonies.

Music was furnished by the Boys and Girls Glee clubs. Harold Bauman, John Emmett Carlisle and Dorothy Jean Fire participated in a round table discussion on "Neutrality." Donna Belle Weingard gave a Prince of Peace declamation oration, "The Testimony of Youth."

Our Community club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Harry Waddell Wednesday. A coverdish dinner was served at noon. The day was spent in quilting.

Mrs. Carl Blattman entertained contract bridge club associates at her home Wednesday afternoon.

Members of the Methodist Epworth league participated in the Columbiana county booth festival at Salem Methodist church Wednesday evening.

LEGION PLANS VARIED EVENTS

Columbiana Post Members Will Observe Armistice Day

COLUMBIANA, Nov. 9—Benjamin Fire tone post, American Legion, under the leadership of Commander Russell Beck is conducting its annual membership campaign, which will culminate Armistice day. The regular post meeting was held last night. Refreshments were served.

Tonight, at Firestone post rooms, ex-servicemen will be guests of the Ladies' Auxiliary at an Armistice party. Friday evening the County Council will meet at Salem. Those attending will meet first at 7:30 at the Legion hall.

On Saturday afternoon the post colors and color guards will join the parade at East Palestine. The local school band will also be in the parade, which precedes the East Palestine - Columbiana High football game.

Columbiana stores will be open all day Saturday, Armistice day.

Mrs. Coppock Hostess

Mrs. C. F. Coppock was hostess to associate members of Columbiana Music Study club last night at Valley Golf club, with 25 present. Mrs. C. H. Shontz presided at the business meeting. The club voted to hold a benefit to raise money for the school band uniforms. Mrs. R. E. Mackall had the lesson study from the study book on "Tone color and other solo instruments."

Guest performers were Lloyd Coppock and Bill Peters, who played a clarinet duet, accompanied by Mrs. E. F. Miller and L. R. Kells of Salem, who gave a talk on flutes and exhibited several different instruments. They also gave a group of flute solos accompanied by Mrs. Donald Zellers. Mrs. Mackall closed the program with a violin solo. Lunch was served by the hostess. The next meeting will be Dec. 6 at the home of Mrs. Charles Essenwein.

City council, meeting Tuesday evening, set Tuesday, Nov. 14, as the fall clean-up day for Columbiana. Residents are asked to place refuse in containers and place them at the curb or on alleys.

Class To Meet

The Philo class of the Methodist church will meet at the church this evening to sew.

The Past Grands of Rebekah lodge will meet at the hall this evening at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Harry Dill, Mrs. Ed. Myers and Mrs. Earl Mollenkopf are the social committee.

Mrs. C. F. Moser and Mrs. G. G.

Weighs Fliers

Capt. Charles L. Leedham

A new scientific apparatus is being used by the United States army to determine whether a prospective flier is likely to go to pieces emotionally in an emergency while piloting a plane at 350 m.p.h. or more, it was reported by Capt. Charles L. Leedham, of the Army School of Aviation Medicine in Hollywood, Fla. The machine tests control of blood stream by the nervous system.

Pinkerton were guests of honor at a birthday surprise party Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Roy Guy when a few friends were entertained. Three tables of bridge were enjoyed, after which lunch was served. The honorees were presented gifts by the group.

The Girl Scouts, troop No. 1, held a sauer kraut supper at the American Legion hall last night with the new cabinet members as hostesses.

CLEVELAND—A survey by the Case Tech, student publication of Case School of Applied Science, has shown that 433 students of the voting believe in a U. S. cash-and-carry plan during the European war. The survey showed that 54 students favored the cause of Great Britain and France, and 46 were against personal involvement in the war.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. "KNIGHT ERRANT"

SYNOPSIS

It was post time for the Santa Anita Handicap. "Coronado", the favorite with fourteen straight victories, pranced on the track to the applause of the crowd. Dan Mills, his owner, a sportsman of high calibre, hung on the rail, watching. He had a feeling of apprehension. Just a few hours ago, he had collapsed in the tack room and Charley Bassitt, horseman of unsavory reputation, had taken "Coronado" to the receiving barn. Thrilling with excitement, Dan's 18-year-old daughter, Heather, watches from her grandstand box. In the unreserved section in back of Heather stands "Slim" Maynard and his pal, "Snapper" Elliott. "Slim" born Andrew Branson Maynard, knew horses from the hoof up. His father had a string of thoroughbreds when Slim was a boy, but a flood ruined the Maynard stables and Slim is now on his uppers. All he and Snapper could scrape together was bet on "Coronado" today. Slim sees Bassit come from the $50 window with a wad of tickets and wonders which horse he was betting on. Coronado, fractious at the post, pinions his leg on the stall gate. With the yell, "They're Off!" he rushes to the lead apparently uninjured, but before the horses had gone a sixteenth of a mile, Coronado's legs buckled and he crashed headlong to the ground—dying of a broken back. The blow is too much for Dan and next day, he dies. All that are left to Heather are a breeding farm in Carmel Valley and "Artichokes," a stable-hand of whom Coronado was especially fond. Three days later, Heather sits in the lobby of the Biltmore Hotel in Los Angeles, crushed and lonely. The place buzzed with insinuations regarding Charlie Bassit and Coronado's "accidental" death. Artichokes shuffles in to inform Heather that her bags are packed and the car ready for their trip to Carmel Valley. Her despair at going back is lightened by Artichokes surprising news that "Sweet Alice," the little brood mare on the farm, is "expectin'" and there may be a successor to Coronado. The colt is born—a long-legged, scrawny-looking creature, coal black just like his sire.

CHAPTER VI

In the meantime, Slim Maynard and Snapper Elliott were doing all right at Tanforan.

Slim has having a run of luck. Together with Snapper, he was keeping knee deep in the folding money that had been so elusive at Santa Anita. Slim had maneuvered a couple of nice parlays.

Snapper took a shadier route. He had a rare flair for elbowing his way around in the most exclusive clubhouse, ferreting out the live ones, and in the clinches he was better than a green pea at maneuvering with the two dollar mob under the grand stand.

This meeting at Tanforan, Snapper had lined up an unusually trusting clientele of betting-minded disciples—with bank roles to match.

There were times when Snapper, cashing in on information Slim had gleaned from his wide circle of trusted horsemen friends, actually had worthwhile tips of bonafide "feed-box" caliber.

In other race sSnapper was just guessing. Not that it made much difference. He always advised his clients to "shoot the works, this one is home free, and the more you bet the more you'll win, anyway."

Friends wondered why the pair had remained friends so long. The name Maynard went back many years on the turf and there was no smudge against it.

Snapper's racetrack reputation was not first class.

But it was with true loyalty to a friend that Slim felt people did not know Snapper as he really was, a harmless little fellow without a vicious bone in his body.

In spite of the bad markers Snapper had run up against Slim's name, the contrast in their natures contributed to a natural friendship. Perhaps it was for a laugh that Slim carted Snapper around with him from track to track. He found amusement in Snapper's line of chatter. Particularly refreshing were the tales Snapper, who was 27, told concerning his "brilliant" past.

Slim added them up in his mind once and came to the conclusion the boy would have had to be fifty

"Two horses up" on Sol Berg who told the court: "I got no barn and keep the horses in my garage" . . .

For Snapper claimed to have been—

A marine at Chateau Thierry, could speak seven languages fluently and had a cursing knowledge in four more, had written musical scores for Ziegfeld, had been a designer of seagoing yachts and speed boats, had been graduated from a military academy with high honors

He had been a licensed pilot with 200 hours of solo flying to his credit, had once married an heiress, was a rapid calculation expert, had (130 pounds and all) played football for Knute Rockne, once led an orchestra, was part Cherokee Indian, had once had a trial with the New York Giants, but wasn't interested in the national pastime because as a permanent venture because the hotel "dicks" kept too close tab on a ball player.

But in spite of all that, Slim and Snapper remained friends. They even wound up with a stable!

The way Slim and Snapper became horse owners would ever remain a chuckle in turf circles. It happened one day in Judge Foley's ecurt in San Francisco.

Tanforan followers were in court full force, for "Foots" O'Day, sometimes known as "the Bolster Kid," was in a jam over the ownership of two old "haybag" platers. "Foots" was a colorful hanger-on at the Tanforan track.

Mr. Sol Berg, a small and excitable tailor, was plaintiff in the case against "Foots" O'Day. Judge Foley, stemming Mr. Berg's indignant torrent of words, demanded to know what all the fuss was about.

"Susie and Cold Cream," wailed Mr. Berg.

"And who," demanded the judge "are Susie and Cold Cream?"

"Horses!" enlightened the plaintiff. "And such horses! I will talk fast and not take up much time if you will let me tell you why."

"Proceed," said Judge Foley. And Slim, Snapper, "Highball" Kelly, Mike McNulty and John Flammer —"the Heel and Toe Man"—and other onlookers listened with amusement as Mr. Sol Berg told his story.

"This man, 'Foots' O'Day, he is no good, Judge. He come into my tailor shop in Ellis street last year and ordered a suit of clothes, made to order, a $70 suit, latest cut! He took the suit and promised to come back next day and pay me for it. Next day come and no 'Foots' O'Day.

"About one week later he came in and said he wants to buy an overcoat. Not on your life, 'til you pay for the suit, I told him. But this man, 'Foots' O'Day, he told me he just wanted to try the overcoat on and take it home to show the wife, and if she likes it then he will come back and pay me for the suit, and overcoat, too.

"I was a good fellow, Judge, and let him do it. But he never came back at all, and I come to find out he ain't even got a wife. I went to court and bring suit, and instead of getting my money, the Judge he give me the horses instead.

"And such horses, Judge! My wife, she told me 'such a business,' and said I better stay with my tailoring. I got no barn and keep the horses in my garage. They eat very heavy and brought in no profit.

"This man 'Foots' O'Day was very mad when I got his horses, but later he came in the shop when I am having such a fine business, half a dozen people, all prospective customers.

"He says will I give him back the horses as he has a good spot to shoot them in, in Chicago, and then he will pay me for the suit and overcoat by the telegram.

"Again I am a good fellow, Judge and let him have the horses. He took the horses off on a siding near Chicago, and the railroads sent me a bill for the shipping expense.

"I paid the bill, thinking 'Foots' O'Day will win a race soon and pay me for the suit and overcoat. But one week, two weeks, a month, a lot of months, and no 'Foots' O'Day, no suit, no overcoat and no money, I am telling you, Judge, this man 'Foots' O'Day is no good."

HEAVY COSTS HURT LONDON

Auxiliary Fire Service Would Have Cost Heavy Sum

LONDON — The revelation that the wage bill alone for the London Auxiliary Free Service will cost approximately $18,000,000 a year has caused authorities to call a halt in this branch of the city's air raid precautions.

At present London has a force of 25,000 auxiliary firemen receiving $12 a week, in addition to the professional fire-fighters and 10,000 men who have volunteered their services for a few hours a day without payment.

The majority of the auxiliary firemen are attached to the 58 stations of the London Fire Brigade, while the remainder have been placed at various sub-stations throughout the city. The bill for garage rent of these sub-stations is also reaching dimensions which caused the authorities to re-explore the whole situation.

Other Economies

Similar to the steps now being taken to reorganize other branches of London's air raid precautions, large cuts are expected to be made in the personnel of the fire-fighting services. A number of the men receiving payment probably will be dismissed.

The authorities, however, do not intend to reduce the strength of the fire-fighters, and they are confident that sufficient volunteers are available to fill the gaps created by the dismissal of whole-time firemen.

Many of these firemen gave up other employment at the outbreak of war to enter the fire service, and in order not to inflict hardship on them, the Home Office has instructed local authorities carefully to review their cases and not to dismiss them unless they have another job to go to.

Depend On Volunteers

Some reductions in the staff of 6,000 women telephonists attached to the Auxiliary Fire Service also are expected to be made. These workers receive $8 a week.

The authorities responsible for the protection of London against air raids contend that there are sufficient unpaid volunteers available to fill any vacancies. They point out that these volunteers can be recruited from localities near fire stations and sub-stations, and when an air raid warning is given they can reach their stations on bicycles to reinforce the skeleton staff on duty.

Whether such a contention is sound, officials say, can be tested only by an air raid and the plans may then be revised or adjusted to meet future situations.

We always used to address him as "Mahatma"—a title of reverence meaning "great-souled one"—in the not distant past when I sat cross-legged on the floor and listened to his philosophy. But he disapproves of the "Mahatma," just as he dislikes and tries to avoid the adoration of simple Indian peasants who prostrate themselves to kiss his feet. So the title was discarded.

No greater problem could be placed before a government than that of handling the political aspirations of India.

There are numerous races, and some 222 vernacular languages, of great variety. There are several religions, including the predominant Mohammedan and Hindu, whose adherents have little or nothing to do with each other. There are several thousand divisions of the caste system, most all of which live within themselves and distinct from each other.

When you start to mold a unit out of that, you have a job. That has been one of Gandhi's main missions for many years.

Eldon C. Long, who recently returned from England, is visiting at the home of his sister, Mrs. Albert Saunders, and with other relatives here before going to Los Angeles, Calif.

He is associated with the North American Aviation company in Inglewood, Calif. While in England Long supervised the assembly and inspection of 400 Harvard single engine trainers for the British Royal Air force.

At Highland Church

A special youth rally will mark Friday night's service at Highland church, south of Salem, where where nightly services are being held, except on Saturdays, until Nov. 19.

Youth programs are presented at each Friday's service, directed by Rev. Doriene E. Speas, pastor.

Service At 7 P. M. Monday

The service next Monday evening in the "Back to Church" movement sponsored by all Salem churches will be held in the Church of Our Saviour (Episcopal) at 7 p. m. instead of 7:30, the usual time for the services at the various churches.

Change in time for the service has been made to avoid conflict with a concert at the High school.

Studies In Detroit

Miss Dorothy McConnor, daughter of Mrs. R. H. McConnor of Euclid st., has gone to Detroit to begin a year's course of study as a laboratory technician at the City of Detroit Receiving hospital.

Miss McConnor is a graduate of Salem High school and Mount Union college, where she was a member of the 1939 class.

At Press Convention

R. W. Hilgendorf, faculty business manager of the Quaker, Salem High school paper, was in Chicago today attending the annual National Scholastic Press association convention. The sessions will continue through Saturday.

At least 1,000 persons are expected to attend the convention.

Hold Steak Fry

Salem chapter of the United Commercial Travelers held a steak dinner at the Lape hotel last night. The dinner program included talks by Clyde R. Reich, William Kaminsky and H. C. Kniseley.

Plans were outlined for a membership drive and a guest dinner sometime in January.

Degree Conferred

The Entered Apprentice degree was conferred on one candidate at a special meeting of Perry lodge No. 185, F. & A. M. last night.

Fellowcraft degree work will be held on Nov. 15 at a special meeting.

Presbytery To Meet

Rev. R. D. Walter and L. Frank Smith are delegates to the meeting of the Mahoning Presbytery in the Niles Presbyterian church next Tuesday. J. C. Pottorf is alternate.

Mayor's Collections

Collections during October in Mayor George Harroff's office totaled $374.60. This included: Fines, $262; costs, $33.60; licenses, $70; building permits, $9.

Hospital Notes

tion by Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering and Dr. Hans Heinrich Lammers, liaison officer between the wartime ministerial council and the fuehrer.

They drove immediately to the chancellery where a conference was held with Col. Gen. Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the high command of armed forces, and Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop.

Officials congratulated Hitler and later Italian Ambassador Bernardo Attolico led a procession of diplomats to the chancellery to pay their respects.

A crowd outside stood silently in a drizzle.

It was assumed wholesale arrests were being made by the Gestapo (secret police) in the Munich region but officials declined to disclose the number.

A death list announced by the propaganda ministry disclosed that one of the seven dead was a woman. She was believed to be Frau Maria Henle, cashier of the beer cellar, but was not definitely identified.

Others were Franz Lutz, Wilhelm Kaiser, a radio announcer, Franz Weber, Leonhard Reindl, Emil Kasberger and Eugen Schachta.

Killed Instantly

The seven dead were said to have been killed instantly.

With the fuehrer were Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels, Deputy Party Leader Rudolf Hess, Labor Leader Robert Ley, Interior Minister Wilhelm Frick Labor Service Leader Konstantin Hierl, Alfred Rosenberg, head of the Nazi party's foreign political division; Ritter Von Epp, governor of Bavaria; Wilhelm Schaub, Hitler's personal adjutant; and Julius Streicher, governor of Franconia.

Hitler himself was safe aboard a special armored train at the time, heading toward Berlin after an address which was regarded generally as preparation for his people to face a prolonged conflict.

Munich authorities, aided by one of the heaviest concentrations of police and investigators in the city's history, searched for clues but strictest secrecy was maintained and nothing was said about arrests.

Not An Amateur Job

Witnesses of the explosion said it was so violent that a hand grenade or amateurish infernal machine could not have caused it.

The beer hall had been one of the most strictly watched spots in Munich for days and no explanation was offered how a foreigner or conspirator could have entered.

The train that brought the fuehrer here after the impromptu annual address in which he warned that Germany would "speak the language which England understands," was said to be one of the safest trains ever built.

Technical experts said its padded coaches and steel-shuttered windows could withstand the force of a mine exploded on the tracks.

"We thank providence for sparing the fuehrer," an early morning radio commentator broadcast.

"But he is moved by fanatic hate for the perpetrators of this outrage. Enemies will learn what it means to lay hands on Adolf Hitler."

GOLD BEACH, Ore. — Harold Strain, 16-year-old hunter, was killed by a bullet that had passed through and killed a deer. According to Coroner W. A. Cartwright's verdict, Strain was standing in the line of fire just beyond the deer when his hunting partner, not knowing he was there, fired the fatal shot. Strain died of the wound.

It Never Fails

WALTHAM, Mass. — Waltham firemen—all of 'em—sat down at a banquet to honor Chief George L. Johnson, 70, retiring after 52 years with the department.

It had to happen of course.

An alarm came in and firemen, all slicked up in tuxedos, rushed out to extinguish the blaze—in a plot of grass on main street. Then they called fire departments of nearby towns and asked them to cover up while they finished the banquet.

HEAVY COSTS HURT LONDON

Auxiliary Fire Service Would Have Cost Heavy Sum

LONDON — The revelation that the wage bill alone for the London Auxiliary Free Service will cost approximately $18,000,000 a year has caused authorities to call a halt in this branch of the city's air raid precautions.

At present London has a force of 25,000 auxiliary firemen receiving $12 a week, in addition to the professional fire-fighters and 10,000 men who have volunteered their services for a few hours a day without payment.

The majority of the auxiliary firemen are attached to the 58 stations of the London Fire Brigade, while the remainder have been placed at various sub-stations throughout the city. The bill for garage rent of these sub-stations is also reaching dimensions which caused the authorities to re-explore the whole situation.

Other Economies

Similar to the steps now being taken to reorganize other branches of London's air raid precautions, large cuts are expected to be made in the personnel of the fire-fighting services. A number of the men receiving payment probably will be dismissed.

The authorities, however, do not intend to reduce the strength of the fire-fighters, and they are confident that sufficient volunteers are available to fill the gaps created by the dismissal of whole-time firemen.

Many of these firemen gave up other employment at the outbreak of war to enter the fire service, and in order not to inflict hardship on them, the Home Office has instructed local authorities carefully to review their cases and not to dismiss them unless they have another job to go to.

Depend On Volunteers

Some reductions in the staff of 6,000 women telephonists attached to the Auxiliary Fire Service also are expected to be made. These workers receive $8 a week.

The authorities responsible for the protection of London against air raids contend that there are sufficient unpaid volunteers available to fill any vacancies. They point out that these volunteers can be recruited from localities near fire stations and sub-stations, and when an air raid warning is given they can reach their stations on bicycles to reinforce the skeleton staff on duty.

Whether such a contention is sound, officials say, can be tested only by an air raid and the plans may then be revised or adjusted to meet future situations.

GANDHI STARTS FRESH WORRIES

British, Involved In European War, See Serious Situation

We always used to address him as "Mahatma"—a title of reverence meaning "great-souled one"—in the not distant past when I sat cross-legged on the floor and listened to his philosophy. But he disapproves of the "Mahatma," just as he dislikes and tries to avoid the adoration of simple Indian peasants who prostrate themselves to kiss his feet. So the title was discarded.

No greater problem could be placed before a government than that of handling the political aspirations of India.

There are numerous races, and some 222 vernacular languages, of great variety. There are several religions, including the predominant Mohammedan and Hindu, whose adherents have little or nothing to do with each other. There are several thousand divisions of the caste system, most all of which live within themselves and distinct from each other.

When you start to mold a unit out of that, you have a job. That has been one of Gandhi's main missions for many years.

HOOSIERS IN SHAKEUP FOR FORDHAM TILT

Threatened Changes Become Reality; Northwestern at Purdue

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Nov. 9.—The shakeup with which Alvin (Bo) McMillin threatened his Indiana university football team was a reality today — and on it the white-haired coach pinned hopes for a good showing in the fat end of the Hoosiers' comeback season.

Only one first-stringer—Quarterback Eddie Herbert of Gary stayed in the backfield. And Left Halfback Harold Hursh of Middletown, O., the ace passer mentioned in the same breath with Davey O'Brien was one of the three benched.

Last season Indiana lost six of its eight games and finished ninth in the Western conference.

This year it has tied one, lost one and then, with the help of Hursh's heaves, won two in a row, over Wisconsin and Illinois.

But last Saturday the Hoosiers slipped again and Ohio State thumped them, 24 to 0. They fell back from third to fifth in the Big Ten standings.

Other Replacements

Hursh went out for James (Mickey) McGuire, a 19-year-old sophomore from Kalamazoo, Mich. Joe Tofil gave up his fullback's spot to Harry (Tuffy) Brooks of Dayton, O., another sophomore. Ray Dumke of St. Joseph, Mich., replaced Clee Maddox of Kokomo at right halfback.

In the forward wall, other revisions were made.

Indiana plays Fordham in New York next Saturday.

Bill De Correvont and Johnny Galvin, "enemies" two years ago before the greatest football crowd in Chicago's history, will be on the opposite sides of the scrimmage line again next Saturday at Northwestern's Dyche stadium.

De Correvont vs Galvin

Northwestern and Purdue will come to grips, with De Correvont the sophomore ace of the Wildcat offense and Galvin the first-year star passer and punter for Purdue. In 1937, with De Correvont the Austin High school sensation and Galvin the big gun in the Leo High attack, they played in a city championship game which jammed more than 100,000 persons into Soldier field.

Withone exception, Wisconsin's Badgers will be at full strength when they go against Illinois Saturday at Champaign..... Tony Gradisnik, veteran back, was confined to the infirmary for a rest and will not make the trip..... Minnesota's squad, which travels to Ann Arbor and a battle with Michigan Saturday, was cheered by the news that Harold Van Every, triple threat back, has recovered from leg bruises and will be ready for the Wolverines..... the latter drilled on pass defense.

Polishes Aerial Attack

Iowa polished its aerial attack in preparation for Notre Dame while the Irish went through a light blocking and tackling drill..... Notre Dame, with Bill Kerr, Bob Saggau, Tad Harvey and Tom Gallagher apparently back in shape, will be near top strength for Saturday's battle at Iowa City... Illinois drilled on pass defense, in anticipation of an overhead attack by Wisconsin. Chicago's Maroons looked at Ohio State formations and hoped for the best in Saturday's battle in Chicago with the Western conference leading Buckeyes, who went through a long drill on offense.

DUQUESNE-PITT GAMES TO HALT

Two Schools Sever Football Relations; Tech Not Included

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 9—The Steel City's "backyard" series which put the skids under some of Pitt's mightiest teams headed into the discard today as the Panther broke off football relations with undefeated Duquesne.

While Pitt and Carnegie Tech primed for the second of this year's round-robin Saturday, Coach Aldo (Buff) Donelli of Duquesne announced the long-heralded split. Pitt Athletic Director Jimmy Hagan refused to comment, saying he would speak only "when the 1940 program is released."

Pitt and Duquesne met six times, the Panthers winning four and losing twice. In 1936, the Dukes startled the football world with a 6-0 victory over a previously undefeated and untied Pitt powerhouse. Carnegie Tech repeated the trick last year, using Dr. John B. "Jock" Sutherland's "dream team" as a springboard to eastern football heights.

This year Charley Bowser's surprising Panthers came up to the Duquesne game with another clean slate but left the stadium on the short end of 21-13 score.

The Pitt-Carnegie Tech classic will continue, announced Frank Carver, Pitt athletic publicity director, while Carnegie authorities said the Tartans and Duquesne would play in 1940 although no date had been set for the game.

DUKE SOUTHPAW - - - - By Jack Sords

GRID HUNTING REPORTED FINE

Scribe Takes Pen In Hand And Writes to Ohio Coaches

By FRITZ HOWELL.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 9—An open letter to Ohio's collegiate football coaches:

Dear Coach:

Now that the hunting season's opened, we'd like to tip you off to the fact that the Buckeye fields are just full of the kind of game you'd like to get—whole flocks of High school youngsters capable of lugging footballs across enemy goal lines.

You can't use 'em for a year or two, but you'll have to do your hunting for the 1941 season right away, or you'll find all the game hanging up in the other guy's freshman class, come the fall of 1940.

Bellville, up in Richland county, has a golden-toed gridder named Howard (Tick) Hamilton, that you would be interested in. He has eluded enemy tacklers for 18 touchdowns this year, and has booted 17 extra points. (That toe could have helped you a couple of time this year, eh? Yes, and those 125 points would have been welcome, too.

Then there's 195-pound Bobby Shaw at Fremont Ross, who has scored 117 points on 19 touchdowns and three extra points. He does everything. Or you might take a look at the 145-pound Bob Frye of unbeaten Crestline, who has scampered for 110 points.

Hillis Hume, Alliance's great quarterback, is up there, too, with 108 points. He got 146 last year. If you get him you'll be lucky, for he's flirting with the Naval academy at Annapolis.

If you'd rather go south for the hunting season, you might try big Glen Wittekind, Marietta's outstanding star, who has just one point less than Hume, or Paul Sarringhaus, Hamilton's bespectacled backfielder who kicks, passes and runs. He has 15 touchdowns and 14 placements for 104 points.

Knox K.O.'s Pross

CINCINNATI, Nov. 9. — Buddy Knox, 192, of Dayton, last night scored a second round technical knockout over Paul Pross, 206, of New York, in their scheduled ten round main bout here. Freddie Pope, 118, of Columbus, decisioned Peewee Weghorn, 122, of Cincinnati, in six rounds.

QUAKERS FACE BARBERTON IN SATURDAY TILT

First of Three Tough November Contests Is Slated Here

Coach Carl Schroeder's High school gridders will plunge into the tough November section of their schedule Saturday when they take on the Magics of Barberton at Reilly stadium.

With this game, the Quakers will definitely leave the "night circuit," the remainder of the schedule calling for Saturday afternoon engagements.

These will include Youngstown South and Alliance.

The Barberton tilt is scheduled to get under way at 2:30 p. m. Saturday.

Last year, the Barberton game furnished the occasion for the Salem Dad's day observance. This season the Dad's day program will be carried out on Nov. 18 when Youngstown South invades Reilly stadium.

Faculty Manager Fred Cope today announced the selection of officials for Saturday's game. They include George Porter of Lisbon, Al Sebastian of Youngstown, and Clayt Schlemmer of Akron.

Unfortunately, the visitors will be unable to bring their band with them. School officials permit the musicians but one trip a year, it is understood, and this they made last week to Alliance.

The Quakers took time out yesterday from their practice sessions. Given one additional day this week by reason of the fact that the game is set for Saturday instead of Friday, Coach Schroeder cancelled practice yesterday to permit members of the squad to do a little hunting.

GOSHEN STARTS CAGE PRACTICE

Boys' Team Will Launch Season Nov. 17 With Berlin Center

DAMASCUS, Nov. 9—Basketball practices are being held at Goshen Township High school by both the boys' and the girls' teams.

Fifteen experienced men are back for practice, making 40 who have signed up for the season. William Deckard is coach for the boys and E. L. Wagstaff, the girls.

The schedule for the boys is:

Nov. 17—Berlin Center, there.
Nov. 22—Greenford, here.
Dec. 1—Beloit, there.
Dec. 5—Darlington, Pa., there.
Dec. 8—Canfield, there.
Dec. 12—Sebring, there.
Dec. 15—Leetonia, here.
Dec. 19—North Jackson, here.
Dec. 31—North Lima, here.
Jan. 5—Springfield, here.
Jan. 12—Beloit, here.
Jan. 19—Poland, there.
Jan. 23—North Jackson, there.
Jan. 26—Open.
Jan. 30—Darlington, here.
Feb. 2—Berlin Center, here.
Feb. 6—Leetonia, there.
Feb. 9—North Lima, there.
Feb. 16—Open.

The girls' schedule has not been completed but will probably be the same as the boys' where there are girls' teams. Twenty girls are out for practice.

Grid Season Over

The football season has ended for Goshen Township High school. The team will lose six members by graduation. They are Delmar Court, Lowell Baker, Dan Schmidt, Bob Beck, Edward Theil and Raymond Weingart. However, the outlook for next season is good.

Scores for this season are:

Salem Reserves, 14-0; Lowellville, 31-0; Augusta, 13-0; Salem Reserves, 12-12; Canfield, 48-12; Leetonia, 32-0; Augusta, 21-13; Salineville, 33-7.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—Petey Scalzo, 127½, New York, stopped Herbie Gilmore, 124½, Cincinnati (5).

Buckeye Tilt, To Determine School Champ, In "Making"

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Nov. 9—A "Buckeye bowl" came to settle to some extent the Ohio high school football championship — with Ohio State's huge stadium as the setting—was in the making today.

The post-season clash between two of the titans was still in the "talking" stage, but early conversation centered around a scrap involving two of the following: Massillon, Portsmouth, Toledo Waite, Hamilton, New Philadelphia or Columbus West.

Townsend Says O. K.

High School Commissioner H. R. Townsend said he would grant permission for such a contest, on or before Dec. 2, and Ohio State officials said they would ask permission of the Buckeye athletic board for use of the stadium. Gate receipts would be split between the two contestants on a 50-50 basis.

Portsmouth, unbeaten in its last 23 games, but tied a couple of weeks ago on a rain-drenched field by Middletown, was definitely interested in such a game. Massillon, winner of 21 in a row, said it was not interested until after the Nov. 18 clash with Canton McKinley. Sentiment favored a title scrap between the Tigers and the Trojans, each winner of 10 straight last season and unbeaten this year, but Massillon authorities said their team never had played a post-season contest.

In 1935 Massillon beat Portsmouth 46 to 0, and repeated by 70 to 0 in 1936. Both games, however, were played before Paul Jenkins came to Portsmouth and started constructing almost unbeatable squads.

Open to All Comers

Should Massillon veto the post-season game idea, Portsmouth is willing to meet any other team in the state, preferably the strong Toledo Waite squad which has roared through eight straight wins, piling up 254 points to 32 for the foe. Portsmouth has scored 163 to 18 for the opposition in six victories and a scoreless tie, while Massillon is far out front in scoring with 402 to 19 for the enemy.

Last year seven teams finished their campaigns with 10 straight wins. This year 10 of them have eight in a row, and six others have copped seven straight, tossing the title situation into a turmoil.

Final selection of the teams to meet in the post-season classic depends upon the result of the remaining contests, the class of opposition met by the leaders, and the action of the various athletic boards in accepting invitations to play.

Columbus newspapermen who have taken the lead in attempting to arrange such a game believe it would attract close to 25,000 fans to the Ohio stadium. Preliminary plans are that no reserved seats be sold, but that blue tickets be for one side of the field, and red for the other, so that each team's fans could sit together.

55,000 CROWD EXPECTED TO WATCH BATTLE

Tulane Expects To End Talk That Tennessee Is Supreme

(By Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 9.—Coach Jim Crowley of Fordham, about a month ago, called the turn on the Tulane-Alabama clash here Saturday when the Green Wave will endeavor before an anticipated 55,000 crowd to end talk that Tennessee is supreme in the south and in the Southeastern conference.

"Alabama's got a better defense, Tulane a better offense, and it should be a whale of a game," Crowley said. None should know better, for his Rams were defeated 7-6 by Alabama and 7-0 by Tulane.

With an off day last Saturday, Coach Lowell (Red) Dawson has for the first time this season been able to point his Greenies for a victory local enthusiasts could use to support their theory that mighty Tennessee could be taken by Tulane if the teams met. They won't meet, however, unless it be in the Sugar Bowl on New Year's day.

After a series of "breather" games Tennessee beat Alabama 21 to 0. Tulane, in its first chance for a comparison with Tennessee, would need to do approximately as well to sustain the claim of many here that the volunteers never would crack the Tulane powerhouse.

Furthermore a Tulane victory could set up a claim as co-champions of the Southeastern conference, assuming Tulane later beats Louisiana State university, and Tennessee isn't tripped up by Kentucky.

Neither is defeated or tied in conference, Tennessee has won three, Tulane two. Both have three games to go. Championships are not officially awarded. It is contended by scribes here that Tulane with five victories would have as good or better claim as Tennessee because of its much stiffer schedule.

Harder Has High Hopes For Tribe

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 9.—You can't add Mel Harder, ace pitcher of the Cleveland American league baseball team, to the list of those who think the world champion New York Yankees ought to be liquidated.

Mel has his own remedy for the monopoly the Yanks have taken on the American league pennant.

"Time and the law of averages will take care of them," said he.

Mel, an Omaha boy, thinks the Indians might make it kind of tough on the Yanks next year. The Indians, he said, are on their way up. He doesn't predict any 1940 pennant for them, but—

"Anyway, we ought to end up in second place."

Drake's Lead Cut In Grid Scoring

CLEVELAND, Nov. 9. — Johnny Drake, Cleveland fullback, today found his lead in the National Football League's scoring race cut to a single touchdown.

Drake, the former Purdue star, has crossed the pay-off line eight times and Bill Osmanski, ex-star at Holy Cross who performs with the Chicago Bears, hung up his seventh last Sunday.

Parker Hall, Cleveland's rookie halfback, still tops the loop in pass competitions with 60 in 131.

Hornets Loom As Dark Horse In Loop

(By Associated Press)

It looks like one of the darkhorses to watch in the International - American Hockey league's campaign will be Pittsburgh, a pathetic plodder the last couple of years.

With almost an entirely new team, the Hornets have started the season by winning two of their first three games and now are tied with Indianapolis for the western division lead.

Fight Results

PITTSBURGH — Jackie Wilson, 130, Pittsburgh, outpointed Armanda Sicilia, 130, Chicago (10).

NEW YORK—Texas Lee Harper, 129½, New York, outpointed Johnny Campo, 124½, New Haven, Conn. (6).

HOOSIERS IN SHAKEUP FOR FORDHAM TILT

Threatened Changes Become Reality; Northwestern at Purdue

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Nov. 9.—The shakeup with which Alvin (Bo) McMillin threatened his Indiana university football team was a reality today — and on it the white-haired coach pinned hopes for a good showing in the fat end of the Hoosiers' comeback season.

Only one first-stringer—Quarterback Eddie Herbert of Gary stayed in the backfield. And Left Halfback Harold Hursh of Middletown, O., the ace passer mentioned in the same breath with Davey O'Brien was one of the three benched.

Last season Indiana lost six of its eight games and finished ninth in the Western conference.

This year it has tied one, lost one and then, with the help of Hursh's heaves, won two in a row, over Wisconsin and Illinois.

But last Saturday the Hoosiers slipped again and Ohio State thumped them, 24 to 0. They fell back from third to fifth in the Big Ten standings.

Other Replacements

In the forward wall, other revisions were made.

Indiana plays Fordham in New York next Saturday.

Bill De Correvont and Johnny Galvin, "enemies" two years ago before the greatest football crowd in Chicago's history, will be on the opposite sides of the scrimmage line again next Saturday at Northwestern's Dyche stadium.

De Correvont vs Galvin

Northwestern and Purdue will come to grips, with De Correvont the sophomore ace of the Wildcat offense and Galvin the first-year star passer and punter for Purdue. In 1937, with De Correvont the Austin High school sensation and Galvin the big gun in the Leo High attack, they played in a city championship game which jammed more than 100,000 persons into Soldier field.

Withone exception, Wisconsin's Badgers will be at full strength when they go against Illinois Saturday at Champaign..... Tony Gradisnik, veteran back, was confined to the infirmary for a rest and will not make the trip..... Minnesota's squad, which travels to Ann Arbor and a battle with Michigan Saturday, was cheered by the news that Harold Van Every, triple threat back, has recovered from leg bruises and will be ready for the Wolverines..... the latter drilled on pass defense.

Polishes Aerial Attack

Iowa polished its aerial attack in preparation for Notre Dame while the Irish went through a light blocking and tackling drill..... Notre Dame, with Bill Kerr, Bob Saggau, Tad Harvey and Tom Gallagher apparently back in shape, will be near top strength for Saturday's battle at Iowa City... Illinois drilled on pass defense, in anticipation of an overhead attack by Wisconsin. Chicago's Maroons looked at Ohio State formations and hoped for the best in Saturday's battle in Chicago with the Western conference leading Buckeyes, who went through a long drill on offense.

DUQUESNE-PITT GAMES TO HALT

Two Schools Sever Football Relations; Tech Not Included

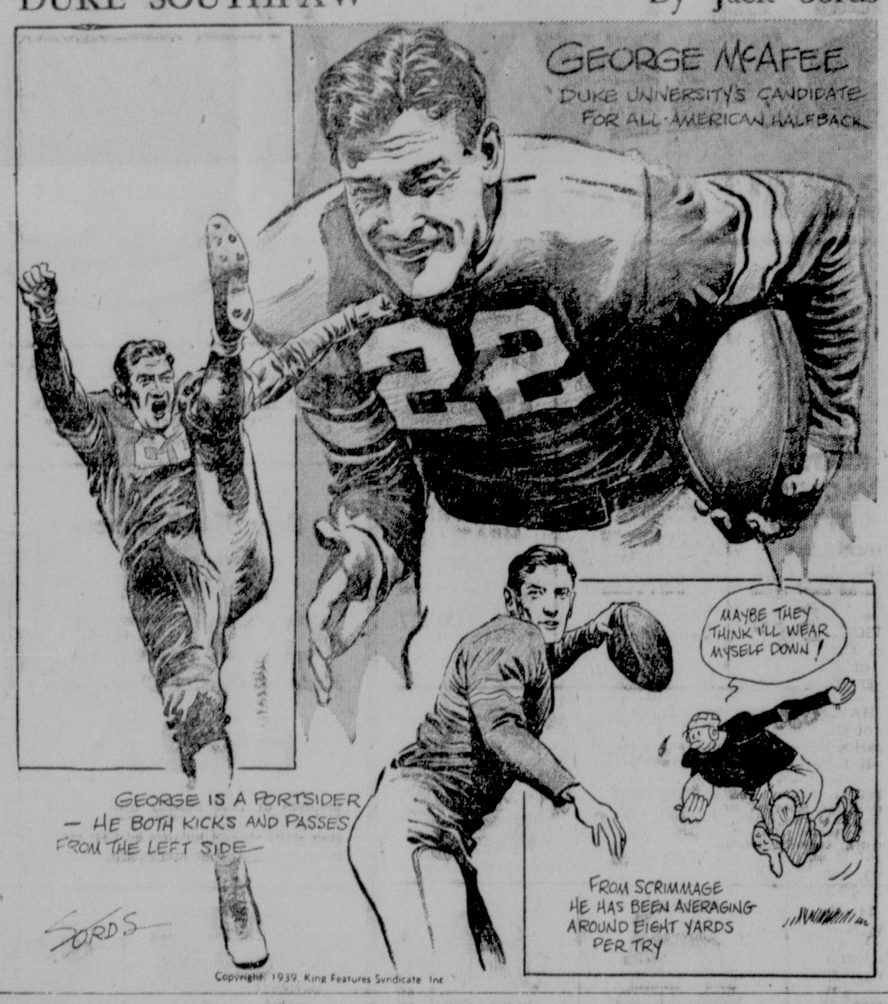

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 9—The Steel City's "backyard" series which put the skids under some of Pitt's mightiest teams headed into the discard today as the Panther broke off football relations with undefeated Duquesne.

While Pitt and Carnegie Tech primed for the second of this year's round-robin Saturday, Coach Aldo (Buff) Donelli of Duquesne announced the long-heralded split. Pitt Athletic Director Jimmy Hagan refused to comment, saying he would speak only "when the 1940 program is released."

Pitt and Duquesne met six times, the Panthers winning four and losing twice. In 1936, the Dukes startled the football world with a 6-0 victory over a previously undefeated and untied Pitt powerhouse. Carnegie Tech repeated the trick last year, using Dr. John B. "Jock" Sutherland's "dream team" as a springboard to eastern football heights.

This year Charley Bowser's surprising Panthers came up to the Duquesne game with another clean slate but left the stadium on the short end of 21-13 score.

The Pitt-Carnegie Tech classic will continue, announced Frank Carver, Pitt athletic publicity director, while Carnegie authorities said the Tartans and Duquesne would play in 1940 although no date had been set for the game.

GRID HUNTING REPORTED FINE

Scribe Takes Pen In Hand And Writes to Ohio Coaches

By FRITZ HOWELL.

COLUMBUS, Nov. 9.—An open letter to Ohio's collegiate football coaches.

Dear Coach:

Now that the hunting season's opened, we'd like to tip you off to the fact that the Buckeye fields are just full of the kind of game you'd like to get—whole flocks of High school youngsters capable of lugging footballs across enemy goal lines.

You can't use 'em for a year or two, but you'll have to do your hunting for the 1941 season right away, or you'll find all the game hanging up in the other guy's freshman class, come the fall of 1940.

Bellville, up in Richland county, has a golden-toed gridder named Howard (Tick) Hamilton, that you would be interested in. He has eluded enemy tacklers for 18 touchdowns this year, and has booted 17 extra points. (That toe could have helped you a couple of time this year, eh?. Yes, and those 125 points would have been welcome, too.

Then there's 195-pound Bobby Shaw at Fremont Ross, who has scored 117 points on 19 touchdowns and three extra points. He does everything. Or you might take a look at the 145-pound Bob Frye of unbeaten Crestline, who has scampered for 110 points.

Hillis Hume, Alliance's great quarterback, is up there, too, with 108 points. He got 146 last year. If you get him you'll be lucky, for he's flirting with the Naval academy at Annapolis.

If you'd rather go south for the hunting season, you might try big Glen Wittekind, Marietta's outstanding star, who has just one point less than Hume, or Paul Sarringhaus, Hamilton's bespectacled backfielder who kicks, passes and runs. He has 15 touchdowns and 14 placements for 104 points.

Knox K.O.'s Pross

CINCINNATI, Nov. 9. — Buddy Knox, 192, of Dayton, last night scored a second round technical knockout over Paul Pross, 206, of New York, in their scheduled ten round main bout here. Freddie Pope, 118, of Columbus, decisioned Peewee Weghorn, 122, of Cincinnati, in six rounds.

GOSHEN STARTS CAGE PRACTICE

Boys' Team Will Launch Season Nov. 17 With Berlin Center

DAMASCUS, Nov. 9.—Basketball practices are being held at Goshen Township High school by both the boys' and the girls' teams.

Fifteen experienced men are back for practice, making 40 who have signed up for the season. William Deckard is coach for the boys and E. L. Wagstaff, the girls.

The schedule for the boys is:

Nov. 17—Berlin Center, there.
Nov. 22—Greenford, here.
Dec. 1—Beloit, there.
Dec. 5—Darlington, Pa., there.
Dec. 8—Canfield, there.
Dec. 12—Sebring, there.
Dec. 15—Leetonia, here.
Dec. 19—North Jackson, here.
Dec. 31—North Lima, here.
Jan. 5—Springfield, here.
Jan. 12—Beloit, here.
Jan. 19—Poland, there.
Jan. 23—North Jackson, there.
Jan. 26—Open.
Jan. 30—Darlington, here.
Feb. 2—Berlin Center, here.
Feb. 6—Leetonia, there.
Feb. 9—North Lima, there.
Feb. 16—Open.

The girls' schedule has not been completed but will probably be the same as the boys' where there are girls' teams. Twenty girls are out for practice.

Grid Season Over

The football season has ended for Goshen Township High school. The team will lose six members by graduation. They are Delmar Court, Lowell Baker, Dan Schmidt, Bob Beck, Edward Theil and Raymond Weingart. However, the outlook for next season is good.

Scores for this season are:

Salem Reserves, 14-0; Lowellville, 31-0; Augusta, 13-0; Salem Reserves, 12-12; Canfield, 48-12; Leetonia, 32-0; Augusta, 21-13; Salineville, 33-7.

PROVIDENCE, R. I.—Petey Scalzo, 127½, New York, stopped Herbie Gilmore, 124½, Cincinnati (5).

Buckeye Tilt, To Determine School Champ, In "Making"

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Nov. 9—A "Buckeye bowl" came to settle to some extent the Ohio high school football championship — with Ohio State's huge stadium as the setting—was in the making today.

The post-season clash between two of the titans was still in the "talking" stage, but early conversation centered around a scrap involving two of the following: Massillon, Portsmouth, Toledo Waite, Hamilton, New Philadelphia or Columbus West.

Townsend Says O. K.

High School Commissioner H. R. Townsend said he would grant permission for such a contest, on or before Dec. 2, and Ohio State officials said they would ask permission of the Buckeye athletic board for use of the stadium. Gate receipts would be split between the two contestants on a 50-50 basis.

Portsmouth, unbeaten in its last 23 games, but tied a couple of weeks ago on a rain-drenched field by Middletown, was definitely interested in such a game. Massillon, winner of 21 in a row, said it was not interested until after the Nov. 18 clash with Canton McKinley. Sentiment favored a title scrap between the Tigers and the Trojans, each winner of 10 straight last season and unbeaten this year, but Massillon authorities said their team never had played a post-season contest.

In 1935 Massillon beat Portsmouth 46 to 0, and repeated by 70 to 0 in 1936. Both games, however, were played before Paul Jenkins came to Portsmouth and started constructing almost unbeatable squads.

Open to All Comers

Should Massillon veto the post-season game idea, Portsmouth is willing to meet any other team in the state, preferably the strong Toledo Waite squad which has roared through eight straight wins, piling up 254 points to 32 for the foe. Portsmouth has scored 163 to 18 for the opposition in six victories and a scoreless tie, while Massillon is far out front in scoring with 402 to 19 for the enemy.

Last year seven teams finished their campaigns with 10 straight wins. This year 10 of them have eight in a row, and six others have copped seven straight, tossing the title situation into a turmoil.

Final selection of the teams to meet in the post-season classic depends upon the result of the remaining contests, the class of opposition met by the leaders, and the action of the various athletic boards in accepting invitations to play.

Columbus newspapermen who have taken the lead in attempting to arrange such a game believe it would attract close to 25,000 fans to the Ohio stadium. Preliminary plans are that no reserved seats be sold, but that blue tickets be for one side of the field, and red for the other, so that each team's fans could sit together.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Reason the Texas Aggies are cool towards a Cotton bowl bid is that they'll be first choice for the Sugar bowl if they go through undefeated.... Harry Thomas, who confessed to diving for Galento and Schmilling, now coaches the boxing team of an upstate church..... Jockey W. L. Taylor's five wins in six rides at Narragansett Saturday earned him a weekly pay check of $442—largest among the riders.

It Ain't So!

The other day the law got Ted Williams, the Red Sox slugger, for shooting ducks after the 4 p. m. deadline..... One paper captioned the story: "Ted Williams fined for illegal bunting"..... which is gross libel—the guy never bunted in his life.

Mail Box: "Hurry Up" Yost: They say last week Michigan looked like one of your famous "point-a-minute" teams—for exactly seven minutes..... Earle Neale: What will the Yale brass hats say when they hear you're signing some of your letters with that outlawed monicker, "Greasy"?..... Frankie Frisch: Jim Britt, the Buffalo ace, will succeed you in that Beantown broadcasting spot..... Zeke Bonura: You'll look like an alien enemy in that Cub uniform next season..... Branch Rickey: How about that newspaper story that you'll not renew your $50,000 contract with the Cardinals two years hence?

Guesspert Dept.

Here are a few tuff ones you can try on your fireless cookers..... Clemson-Wake Forest; Carnegie Tech-Pitt; Alabama-Tulane; Southern Methodist-Texas Aggies; Villanova-Auburn; Columbia - Navy; Dartmouth-Princeton and Kentucky-Georgia Tech.

Harder Has High Hopes For Tribe

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 9.—You can't add Mel Harder, ace pitcher of the Cleveland American league baseball team, to the list of those who think the world champion New York Yankees ought to be liquidated.

Mel has his own remedy for the monopoly the Yanks have taken on the American league pennant.

"Time and the law of averages will take care of them," said he.

Mel, an Omaha boy, thinks the Indians might make it kind of tough on the Yanks next year. The Indians, he said, are on their way up. He doesn't predict any 1940 pennant for them, but—

"Anyway, we ought to end up in second place."

Drake's Lead Cut In Grid Scoring

CLEVELAND, Nov. 9. — Johnny Drake, Cleveland fullback, today found his lead in the National Football League's scoring race cut to a single touchdown.

Drake, the former Purdue star, has crossed the pay-off line eight times and Bill Osmanski, ex-star at Holy Cross who performs with the Chicago Bears, hung up his seventh last Sunday.

Parker Hall, Cleveland's rookie halfback, still tops the loop in pass competitions with 60 in 131.

55,000 CROWD EXPECTED TO WATCH BATTLE

Tulane Expects To End Talk That Tennessee Is Supreme

(By Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 9.—Coach Jim Crowley of Fordham, about a month ago, called the turn on the Tulane-Alabama clash here Saturday when the Green Wave will endeavor before an anticipated 55,000 crowd to end talk that Tennessee is supreme in the south and in the Southeastern conference.

"Alabama's got a better defense, Tulane a better offense, and it should be a whale of a game," Crowley said. None should know better, for his Rams were defeated 7-6 by Alabama and 7-0 by Tulane.

With an off day last Saturday, Coach Lowell (Red) Dawson has for the first time this season been able to point his Greenies for a victory local enthusiasts could use to support their theory that mighty Tennessee could be taken by Tulane if the teams met. They won't meet, however, unless it be in the Sugar Bowl on New Year's day.

After a series of "breather" games Tennessee beat Alabama 21 to 0. Tulane, in its first chance for a comparison with Tennessee, would need to do approximately as well to sustain the claim of many here that the volunteers never would crack the Tulane powerhouse.

Furthermore a Tulane victory could set up a claim as co-champions of the Southeastern conference, assuming Tulane later beats Louisiana State university, and Tennessee isn't tripped up by Kentucky.

Neither is defeated or tied in conference, Tennessee has won three, Tulane two. Both have three games to go. Championships are not officially awarded. It is contended by scribes here that Tulane with five victories would have as good or better claim as Tennessee because of its much stiffer schedule.

Hornets Loom As Dark Horse In Loop

(By Associated Press)

It looks like one of the dark-horses to watch in the International - American Hockey league's campaign will be Pittsburgh, a pathetic plodder the last couple of years.

With almost an entirely new team, the Hornets have started the season by winning two of their first three games and now are tied with Indianapolis for the western division lead.

Fight Results

PITTSBURGH — Jackie Wilson, 130, Pittsburgh, outpointed Armanda Sicilia, 130, Chicago (10).

NEW YORK—Texas Lee Harper, 129½, New York, outpointed Johnny Campo, 124½, New Haven, Conn. (6).

POLLY AND HER PALS — By Cliff Sterrett

"Peace" Powers at Work

Territories occupied or threatened by Russia and Germany while they denounce Britain, France and the United States as war mongers are shown here. Finland (A) will be a second Poland unless she grants land to the Soviet, which also threatens Sweden (B) and Norway (C). Russia already occupies Estonia (D), Latvia (E) and Lithuania (F), and threatens to take Bessarabia from Rumania (G) and Black Sea territory from Turkey (H). Germany covets the Schleswig-Holstein area of Denmark (1), and threatens Norway (C) for her part in the City of Flint case. The Nazis also have mighty armies on the borders of the Netherlands (2), Belgium (3) and Switzerland (4). Nazi agitators have Hungary (5) in a turmoil with their efforts to have Hungary attack Rumania.

SOUTH CURING OWN PROBLEMS

Sociologist Describes Attack On Dixie's Economic Ills

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—The South is waging a six-line attack on its own social and economic problems and when the sociological history of the United States is written this program of rehabilitation will be one of its most vivid chapters, in the opinion of Dr. William E. Cole, University of Tennessee socialogist.

"When the social history of the United States for the 20th century is written," Cole said, "nothing will be more outstanding in it than the interest of the nation in the problems of the South; the way in which the South has organized its own forces for the solution of its problems; and the actual development of the South."

Cole maintained that the current interest in Dixie's undernourished social structure was based primarily on the acknowledgement of the fact that when any region of the nation exists subnormally all other sections are pulled down with it.

"U. S. Gibraltar"

Another reason for the renewed interest in Southern problems, he said, was the dissipation of some of the resources of other regions, and still a third reason was the emergence of a Southern leadership which is content to live and labor in the South rather than seek its fortunes elsewhere.

President Roosevelt has characterized the South as the "nation's number one economic problem."

Cole described the South as an "economic and geographic Gibraltar of America."

"The South," he continued, "is well protected geographically, and is a source of food, minerals, water power, man power, which would be invaluable in case of a national emergency."

The Program

He listed six lines of attack the South is now making on its own problems. They were:

1. The South contains, in the Tennessee Valley, the only instance in the nation where an attempt is being made to develop, in a coordinated fashion, all the resources of a region.

2. Outstanding work is under way in public health, involving coordination of state, county and city health departments, the TVA and medical societies and education institutions.

3. Development is going forward, slowly but progressively, of industries built around sources of raw materials which are virtually inexhaustible.

4. Attempts are being made to link or balance agriculture with industry which may produce an economy sounder than either an urban-industrial or rural-farm economy.

5. Rapid progress is being made in improvement of race relations. There is increased recognition of the distinctiveness of the Negro culture and the fact that all people of the South must move up the economic ladder together, if either race is to progress.

6. In education, with an economic base far below that of other sections, the South is making rapid gains, although there is great need for increased federal aid for education.

OK's Ship Transfer

Max O'Rell Truitt

Commissioner Max O'Rell Truitt, of the United States Maritime Commission, declared transfer of United States Lines ships to Panama registry was not in contravention of the Neutrality Act barring American ships from war zones. He described the transfer as "not a dodge, but a completely sound, bona fide situation." Isolationist leaders set up a vigorous protest.

ANDOVER, Mass.—The town of Andover cost $6 more than the City of New York, but even so it was a bargain. According to the WPA Historical Records Survey, Rev. John Woodbridge bought the site form the Indians back in 1646—for $30 and a coat.

N. GEORGETOWN

A party of relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Mercer last Friday evening, the event being a surprise honoring the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Mercer.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Summers of Alliance and Mr. and Mrs. Harve Cameron, near Homeworth, were Sunday afternoon guests of Mrs. Louise Stoffer.

Attend Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Galbreath and Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Buckman attended the marriage of Mrs. Galbreath's niece, Miss Alice Gamble of Winona, and Lawrence Clewell of Guilford, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Gamble, east of Winona, Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morgan and daughters Alice and Virginia Morgan of Cleveland and Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Buckman of Sevakeen Lake, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Galbreath. Mr. and Mrs. Irving Galbreath and little son of Alliance and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Galbreath and children of Salem were guests at the Galbreath home on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Royal Greeneisen were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Penrod of Sugar Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Ingold, Billie Ingold and Miss Betty Brown were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Stoller on Sunday afternoon.

A number of persons from the Brethren and Lutheran Sunday schools attended the convention of the Four Township Sunday School association at the United Presbyterian church at Sebring last Friday evening.

Mission Unit to Meet

The Woman's Missionary society of the Lutheran church will meet at the home of Mrs. Sam Wang on Monday evening, Nov. 13. Mrs. Ross Liber will lead the lesson study and Mrs. Rena Whiteleather the devotional period. Reports will be given of the convention held at New Philadelphia recntly.

Mrs. Ray Barron entertained the pupils of the upper grades of the Homeworth school, of which she is teacher, recently, instead of the pupils of the Courageville school as erroneously announced before.

Mr. and Mrs. Orvey Mercer of Salem and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Mercer are spending part of the week with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Reichenbach of Payne, Ohio, and Rev. and Mrs. Frank Reichenbach of Fort Wayne, Ind.

SOUTH CURING OWN PROBLEMS

Sociologist Describes Attack On Dixie's Economic Ills

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—The South is waging a six-line attack on its own social and economic problems and when the sociological history of the United States is written this program of rehabilitation will be one of its most vivid chapters, in the opinion of Dr. William E. Cole, University of Tennessee socialogist.

"When the social history of the United States for the 20th century is written," Cole said, "nothing will be more outstanding in it than the interest of the nation in the problems of the South; the way in which the South has organized its own forces for the solution of its problems; and the actual development of the South."

Cole maintained that the current interest in Dixie's undernourished social structure was based primarily on the acknowledgement of the fact that when any region of the nation exists subnormally all other sections are pulled down with it.

"U. S. Gibraltar"

Another reason for the renewed interest in Southern problems, he said, was the dissipation of some of the resources of other regions, and still a third reason was the emergence of a Southern leadership which is content to live and labor in the South rather than seek its fortunes elsewhere.

President Roosevelt has characterized the South as the "nation's number one economic problem."

Cole described the South as an "economic and geographic Gibraltar of America."

"The South," he continued, "is well protected geographically, and is a source of food, minerals, water power, man power, which would be invaluable in case of a national emergency."

The Program

He listed six lines of attack the South is now making on its own problems. They were:

1. The South contains, in the Tennessee Valley, the only instance in the nation where an attempt is being made to develop, in a coordinated fashion, all the resources of a region.

2. Outstanding work is under way in public health, involving coordination of state, county and city health departments, the TVA and medical societies and education institutions.

3. Development is going forward, slowly but progressively, of industries built around sources of raw materials which are virtually inexhaustible.

4. Attempts are being made to link or balance agriculture with industry which may produce an economy sounder than either an urban-industrial or rural-farm economy.

5. Rapid progress is being made in improvement of race relations. There is increased recognition of the distinctiveness of the Negro culture and the fact that all people of the South must move up the economic ladder together, if either race is to progress.

6. In education, with an economic base far below that of other sections, the South is making rapid gains, although there is great need for increased federal aid for education.
